

RUSH FROM ANTWERP CHECKED BY ALLIES

London, Oct. 22.—Reports that the Germans had evacuated Ostend and were retreating toward Bruges and that their West Flanders army from the vicinity of the coast south to Courtrai was being hammered into a zig-zag line by the combined efforts of the British navy and the British, French and Belgian troops, seemed to coincide at so many points today, that in the absence of claims of any advances from Berlin, opinion here was that the fighting among the canals of northern Belgium, which followed the German rush from Antwerp had been generally against the invaders.

At any rate the Germans have been driven back as far as Thourout and some dispatches say that their communications in the middle of West Flanders have been so disorganized that troops from Ghent are marching direct to Courtrai rather than join their comrades to the north who are in danger of being cut off.

The evacuation of Ostend was not confirmed this morning but from Berlin itself came a report that British ships were shelling the town, while another dispatch said that the war vessels had destroyed the village of Slype, on the canal between Ostend and Bruges, where it is said the Germans have their headquarters. At Sluis, only a few miles northeast of Slype in 1940, a British fleet achieved a victory over the French.

English Use Monitors.

It is clear now that ships have been playing an important part in the warfare along the coast. The admiralty of Belgium announces that the monitors Severn, Hunter and Merser not only bombarded the German position south of Ostend, but that detachments of machines with machine guns were landed. It is reported from other sources that eleven war vessels in all are taking part in the operations but what they are not announced. The monitors remain that title from Lincoln's "cheese box" in the American civil war and so far apparently they have been able to dodge the submarine attacks.

How the German submarines got to Ostend is unknown but presumably they crept down the Dutch coast, submerging whenever sighted by a British patrol and then picked their way carefully through the British mine fields. With the fighting along the Belgian coast hardly more than seventy miles from Dover that area of hostilities necessarily holds chief interest with the British public; though, according to last night's Paris official communication, there were violent actions here and there along more than a 70-mile front extending almost due south and north from Nieuport to La Bassee. Everywhere the allies claimed to be holding their positions.

Austrians to Aid Germans. Reinforcements for the German right have been spoken of daily since Ostend was taken and today comes a report that Austrian forces were being transferred from the Italian frontier for this purpose.

Rumors that Emperor William is seriously ill are floating in here via Paris and this with a report that a German fleet is off Palsterbo, Sweden, are among the usual crop of unconfirmed narratives that London is discussing.

From the east comes a claim of the Austrians that they have retaken the last point in the Carpathians held by the Russians and it was added that there is "now no enemy on Hungarian soil."

A reiteration that the Germans have been routed south of Warsaw was the gist of Petrograd's latest communication.

PARIS SAYS ALLIED LINES ARE UNBROKEN

Paris, Oct. 22.—The latest dispatches from the battle front in France and Belgium told just enough to make the public eager for more. The allies' positions having been everywhere maintained against the onslaughts of the enemy today's official statement of the war office was the object of hope on the part of the French.

Meanwhile the fighting forces, before resuming the contest, sought anew to discover the weak spot in the lines of one another. The maxim of Napoleon's memorial, "Do not attack in the front the positions you can obtain by turning," is apparently a maneuver to which the Germans are adhering in what appears to be a supreme effort.

In this battle of the north the allied armies, supported by an English squadron, have thus far successfully withstood repeated and fierce attacks of the enemy. The fields of battle in Belgium, Flanders, Picardy, Champagne, Argonne, Lorraine, Vosges and as far as Alsace continue to be the scenes of the combats where the allies have made gains, but a real decisive result is yet awaited.

Further news from Lille toward which the French and English have been advancing slowly was expected during the day. The sudden resumption of activity by the Germans at points where they were not expected has caused a discussion of the object of these efforts. For instance, east of the Argonne, where the enemy has been silent a sufficiently long time, a sudden rush was made on Vauquois, which is perched on a mountain peak. Also questioned is the purpose of the new attempt in the Woerwe near Champlain where they have been unable to dislodge the French from the heights of the Meuse and equally unsuccessful in driving the latter from the buckle formed by the river south of St. Mihiel.

In these somewhat desultory movements, Lieut.-Col. Rousset, the French military critic, says he had supposed the Germans were seeking once more to intimidate the French as operations referred to were without connection or military relation. The official communications, however, he adds, reveal another purpose. This was to detract the attention of the allies from the principal battlefield, which is in the north. The furious resumption of the offensive against the line from Nieuport to Dixmunde and La Bassee can leave no doubt of the German plan, Rousset declares.

Do You Read Ads?

Have you any conception what they are for?

There are two kinds of retail store advertising.

- (1) That which announces bargains and cut prices—
- (2) That which describes new goods and new styles.

The latter is as much news as the latest war report or legislative activities.

It is, perhaps, the most valuable part of the paper to you.

Advertising a Protection

It is a protection against old styles and out-of-date goods.

It enables you to know what you want before you make a purchase, so you will not be persuaded to buy what you don't want on the spur of the moment

Men's Style Journal

Every woman takes a number of fashion journals, but there is not a single magazine devoted to men's wear. Yet it is nearly as important for a man to be in style as a woman.

Our advertisements give the men the services of a style journal—and at the same time quote prices so they can decide just what to buy.

The man who ignores the advertising of reputable firms, the dignified, yet newsy, ads. of reliable concerns, is apt to be the prey of the wildest merchant and the silver tongued "spiff hungry" salesman.

TELLS ZION CITY TO USE SHOTGUNS

Voliva Orders Followers to Resist Vaccination by Health Board.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, were ordered today to resist vaccination by state health authorities even if they were forced to do so with shot guns.

"If the state authorities come here and try to vaccinate us we'll take shot guns and blow them where they belong. They will have to have the state militia to force it on us," Voliva declared.

Voliva's instructions were delivered after Dr. C. E. Crawford, state health inspector, had attempted to vaccinate to check the spread of smallpox in Zion City. Strict quarantine was placed over the ten cases now existing there.

The assailant was supposed to be John O'Connor, a discharged employe. He was locked up.

WARSHIPS SWEEP KAISER'S LINES

London, Oct. 22.—(6:30 a. m.)—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Chronicle in a dispatch dated Wednesday, concerning the fighting on the Belgian coast, says:

"For three days British war ships have been bombarding the German troops, who are trying to reach Nieuport. With the co-operation of the French artillery the Germans were driven back on Middelkerke, where the invaders are entrenching themselves.

"The Germans today bombarded Nieuport from Mariakerke, their attack being vigorously repelled by the allies and the warships. The battle is not yet decided. Many villages have been shattered and are in flames."

LISBON OUT OF COMMUNICATION

London, Oct. 22.—(6:21 a. m.)—The Havas correspondent at Oporto, Portugal, has sent the following dispatch: "Telegraphic and telephonic communication with Lisbon has been cut. A number of unexploded bombs have been found in railway stations."

A revolutionary outbreak in Portugal was reported yesterday. The outbreak occurred at Braganza and Mafrã and was attributed to royalists whose object was said to have been to prevent Portugal joining the allies. It was officially announced at Lisbon that the uprising was promptly put down.

DENVER IS DYING AT THE HOSPITAL

Was Hit by Motorcycle Ridden by Moulder Clark, Who Appears.

Pearl Denver, aged 35 years, is believed to be dying at St. Joseph hospital of a fractured skull, received at 6:30 Wednesday evening when he was run into and knocked down by a motorcycle ridden by Moulder Clark, aged 21, an employe at the Mayflower mills.

The accident occurred on the Portage avenue road west of the city and Denver was struck from the rear as he and Carl Greager, a fellow employe on the Portage avenue concrete paving contract, were proceeding along the highway.

The motorcycleist did not stop and his identity was not known until Thursday morning, when inquiries directed by Chief of Police Lenz developed the man's name. Motorcycle Officer Dan Kintz was then sent to the Mayflower Mills to bring him in. Meanwhile, Clark appeared at police headquarters accompanied by Judge Edward O'Rourke, whom he had employed as counsel. He said he had run into a man on Portage avenue, but did not know that he had badly injured him until Thursday morning. He said the man was zigzagging in front of him and that the accident was unavoidable. He declared he was not running at high speed. Clark's home is at Kingman, near Terre Haute, and he is residing here at 1923 West Main street.

The accident occurred near the south end of Portage avenue, which is still closed to traffic. Greager called police headquarters for aid and Officers Fry and Bunck went out in the ambulance. Denver was unconscious and was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where Police Surgeon J. Frank Dinnen attended him. An operation was performed at midnight in the hope of saving his life. Denver's home is in Kokomo and he has been employed here by Davenport & McReynolds, concrete paving contractors.

Clark has not been detained by the police. He has given assurance that he will remain in the city and his employment of counsel and appearance voluntarily at police headquarters has given confidence in his word.

Clark says that when he struck Denver he was so much frightened he lost his head and sped away.

Denver has two fractures of the skull, one near the top and another at the base. Police Surgeon Dinnen says it is almost impossible that the man should recover, though he may survive for several days.

Pennsylvania Machinist C. L. Horner was taken sick in the shops this morning and had to go home.

DESTRUCTION IS MOST TERRIBLE

London, Oct. 22.—The correspondent of the Times at Boulogne, under date of Wednesday, describes the desperate fighting of the past week in which the Germans have been driven back from village to village to the outskirts of Lille. He says:

"The destruction has been terrible. Some of the villages have been shelled by both the allies and the Germans and many non-combatants have been killed. A whole family was found dead in one house. In one of the villages 560 dead Germans were found after the fighting. The cartridges in their possession, it was noted, were of the old Snider type, with large lead bullet.

"During some of the attacks the allies had only time to make rough trenches a couple of feet deep and were obliged to lie in them at full length. They gained much ground but are now coming in touch with the main German position at Lille and are digging themselves in to hold their ground until necessary reinforcements can reach them."

WARSHIP SHELLS WIPE OUT TOWN

London, Oct. 22.—8:00 a. m.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Dunkirk says that the British naval bombardment has utterly destroyed the town of Sevre, which the Germans held in force. The house occupied by the German headquarters staff was blown to bits. The naval marksmanship, according to the dispatch, was superb. A British signal man in a stationary balloon was shot by the Germans.

Travelers from Antwerp, says the Rotterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company, report that on Tuesday night 10,000 German marines, with machine guns, left Antwerp in a southerly direction. Later a long file of carts bearing wounded, entered the town.

The garrison of Antwerp has been greatly reduced and only a few policemen are on duty. Pondering in the suburbs is increasing. The Germans are dealing severely with plunderers when they are caught. Recently a man who was detected forcing an entrance to a house was shot.

The Germans are on the friendliest terms with the population.

Movement of troops is reported from Ghent.

Twenty-five houses of poured concrete are being erected in Berlin, Ontario.

LECTURE BY PROF. WOOD.

Demonstration at Elks' Temple Given by Former Associate of Edison.

What is considered as an important event among those who are interested in the most modern scientific and mechanical developments is the coming of Prof. Montville M. Wood next Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Young Men's Forward Congress, to give a demonstration and lecture at the Elks' temple.

The practical uses of the monorail car, the gyroscopic and ultra-violet rays will be demonstrated by Prof. Wood by the use of apparatus which will prove of deep interest to all, whether or not they are students of these matters. Science is moving rapidly these days in the development of forces which are comparatively unknown to the average person that the opportunity to learn of them from a high authority should be made an occasion of importance in an educational way.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

11 Chronicles 20:1-13.

1 It came to pass after this also, that the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and with them other beside the Ammonites, came against Jehoshaphat to battle.

2 Then there came some that told Jehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea on this side Syria; and, behold, they be in Hazazon-tamar, which is En-gedi.

3 And Jehoshaphat feared, and set himself to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah.

4 And Judah gathered themselves together, to ask help of the Lord: even out of all the cities of Judah they came to seek the Lord.

5 And Jehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord, before the new court.

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heaven? and rulest not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee?

7 Art not thou our God, who didst drive out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abraham thy friend forever?

8 And they dwell therein, and have built thee a sanctuary therein for thy name, saying,

9 If, when evil cometh upon us, as the sword, judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we stand before this house, and in thy presence, (for thy name is in this house), and cry unto thee in our affliction, then thou wilt hear and help.

10 And now, behold, the children of Ammon and Moab and mount Seir, whom thou wouldst not let Israel invade, when they came out of the land of Egypt, but they turned from them, and destroyed them not;

11 Behold, I say, how they reward us, to come to cast us out of thy possession, which thou hast given us to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us; neither know we what to do: but our eyes are upon thee.

13 And all Judah stood before the Lord, with their little ones, their wives, and their children.

New War on Illegal Drugs.

Information from Indianapolis is to the effect that a war on the illegal sale of habit-forming drugs has been launched there by agents of the state board of pharmacy, and that it will probably extend to other sections of Indiana as well. Investigators are said to have discovered unmistakable evidence that extensive sales of morphine, heroin and similar dopes are being made at various points in the state by those who are willing to take chances on the severe penalties because of the reputedly heavy profits in pandering to the drug appetites of those in its clutches.

It has long been evident that nothing short of eternal and unrelaxing vigilance will stamp out the drug evil. The crusade in Fort Wayne a year or more ago was tremendously beneficial in results, but control of the situation will depend solely on official watchfulness. We trust the state board may take hold of the matter in earnest.

The drift of public sentiment in favor of the Indiana constitutional convention next year has stirred to action opponents of the plan, and voters may expect presently to be deluged by circularized arguments against the movement. These will voice the sentiments of those who may sincerely believe a new constitution unnecessary for Indiana, but for the most part they are apt to represent the activity of the special interests which fear governmental reforms are pretty certain to give them a black eye. That is precisely the reason why the constitutional convention should have the active and earnest support of the average voter.

With Beveridge, Borah, Ralston and Marshall scheduled in Fort Wayne for the closing days of the campaign, there will be no lack of opportunity to display whatever particular brand of political exuberance you may be cherishing. In the olden days political enthusiasm was gauged by the length of torchlight parades and the vociferousness of the cheering that attended the demonstrations. Now it is different. The voter is just as earnest regarding his political convictions, but he is not so demonstrative in his expressions. He is reading and thinking more, but shouting less, which is unquestionably a vast improvement over the old way of doing things.

Attorneys defending the steel trust in the government's suit to enforce the dissolution of that gigantic combine deny that competition has been suppressed. We gather, also, that the lawyers are painfully shocked to discover any evidence of public suspicion that the steel corporation is anything less than a benevolent institution irrevocably committed to the commonweal, with profits and dividends merely incidental. What queer delusions we get, sometimes.

The fact that Mayor Mitchell, of New York, found a suitable man for a $5,000 city appointment by advertising in the newspapers, and gave it to him in preference to a selection from a long string of political hangers-on, is calculated to create an immense boom in the reading of the potent want-ad. columns.

INDIANA'S INSANE.

Indianapolis News.) There is no doubt that Indiana's system for treating the insane requires revision. The changes suggested at the conference on charities and correction issues are as follows: The care of the insane should be placed in the hands of the state's charity activities, and the expense is proportionate, running as high as $1,250,000 a year. The institutions represent a permanent investment of $6,000,000, and yet facilities are inadequate. The number of insane now being cared for in the regular hospitals is given as 1,500. In addition to these there are hundreds of others who are

WHY INDIANA Needs a New CONSTITUTION

Some of the Big Facts of this Question

FAST NO. 5.

Looming up large among the problems facing the people of Indiana today is that of fundamental reform of its taxation system. Tax experts everywhere agree that Indiana is one of the most backward states of the union as regards taxation methods. No competent authority who has given study to our system has found anything in it that commends it for equity or for efficiency in results.

The Indiana system based on the worsted theory of the general property tax. This could be made to work with a fair measure of justice and efficiency in the early years of the state, when property was practically all in tangible form, where it came under the eye of the assessor. With the enormous increase in intangible wealth in later years—stocks, bonds, mortgages and other evidences of wealth—it has proved wholly unwieldy in practice, doing great injustice to certain classes of tax payers and making evasion and perjury common and inevitable. In consequence, small home owners and the farmers carry an unfair share of the tax burden.

porarily lodged—and often miserably lodged—in the county jails.

When we contemplate the serious responsibilities that are borne by the state and begin to compute the expense which these duties involve, the need for progress becomes the more apparent. Those unfortunate individuals whose minds become weakened or unbalanced ought not in every case to become a dead burden on the community. Dr. Emerson showed that hospital space required for desperate cases is often taken up by those who could well be cared for in an other manner. The idea that costly equipment and buildings must be provided for all insane is false. There should be a correctional and economical system put into effect, whereby the sufferers could be employed. But more than all, the return to conditions as near normal as possible would in itself constitute the best treatment that could be given.

Perhaps the most interesting statement which Dr. Emerson made was that insanity is being recognized as a community problem or environment disease rather than one of heredity. If this is true, then the placing of insane in normal environment, rather than in correctional institutions, is the system to be favored. Of course, the insane hospitals are required. But, as Dr. Smith, superintendent of the asylum at Richmond, made clear, the state should endeavor to maintain so-called insane colonies. Free from the labels of a mad house, colonies ought to be "hives of industry" and life in them for the majority of Indiana's insane—certainly would be preferable to life in the wards of extensive properties conducted partly as hospitals, and partly as places of restraint.

A PSYCHOLOGICAL RELIEF.

(Washington Star.)

Assertions have often been made that the American system of government contemplates too many elections. The constant agitation of campaigning is feared and a spirit of unrest is declared to threaten the country's prosperity as well as its peace of mind. The citizens of this republic, however, have learned not to take their candidates so seriously as to make defeat a tragedy. There are always other elections at which previous awards and decisions may be reconsidered. No reverse is hopeless and no triumph absolutely secure. The contest of parties is endless, with new entries always welcome even if they do no more than add a touch of picturesque interest to passing events. The interest is a wholesome one, and at a time when strife abroad arouses sympathy and sentiment as poignant as they are unavailing, our own competition for honors or emolument carried on with the familiar ardor, even with the familiar asperities—claims attention not only as a matter of duty, but as a psychological relief.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Changes in our taxation system are impossible under the limitations of our iron-clad constitution. Adequate reform can come only through a new constitution. This situation offers one of the most appealing arguments for a constitutional convention.

The Indiana Real Estate association, at its convention in Indianapolis, October 9th, went on record regarding the present tax situation and in favor of a new constitution in the following language:

"Whereas, it is an undisputed fact, verified by everyone who has investigated the subject, that the real estate of Indiana, under our present laws, bears an unjust proportion of the taxes, and whereas it is apparent that equitable tax laws cannot be enacted under our state constitution in its present form; and whereas the question as to whether or not a constitutional convention shall be called will be presented to the voters at the general election to be held in November. Therefore, be it resolved that the Indiana Real Estate association favors the calling of such a convention to adopt a new constitution for the state."

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "doses" mother insisted on—calomel, castor oil, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt—Adv.

OLD FORT DAY IS OBSERVED

on the most thrilling times in the history of the city.

The normal students gave a series of most graceful dances between the scenes and the pupils reflected the most careful training that had been given them in their preparation for the play.

The park with its lagoons and bridges supplied a natural amphitheater that added greatly to the production.

Built Fort and Wigwags.

At Franklin school the boys of the higher grades constructed a fort of some old timbers and the other pupils built wigwags and with their Indian costumes they celebrated the day in a most fitting manner.

Miss Eliza Rudisill gave a most pleasing address on the history of Fort Wayne. There were a number of readers and games in keeping with the day and there was a short address by Mrs. Charles H. Spalding, president of the Fort Wayne Mothers' club.

At the Adams school the teachers read to the children different selections from the early history of the city and the pupils recited poetry in addition to singing a number of patriotic songs.

Bloomington had treat.

The pupils of the Bloomington school had the privilege of examining the collection of historic relics belonging to J. M. Stender. Original stanzas were recited by the scholars and several national songs were sung. Following this was an address by Mrs. Stender.

Owing to the lack of an assembly room, the Clay school pupils held their exercises at the First M. E. church, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. B. J. Griswold spoke on the early history of Fort Wayne.

Exercises were held at the Jefferson school at 10 o'clock. The pupils of the upper grades gathered in the assembly room and after singing a few songs were addressed by Mrs. C. A. Dunkelberg.

Perry A. Randall addressed all pupils above the fifth grade of the Allen school on the early history of Fort Wayne Thursday morning. The lower grades had programs of their own. The third grade had a very interesting play, "Contrasting the History of a Miniature Fort." Toy soldiers were used to represent the garrison of the fort and glass was used for the three rivers, the junction of the St. Mary's and the St. Joe being shown on the table. In this manner the history of the fort was explained to the children.

The pupils of the upper grades of the Washington school assembled in the auditorium at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and Perry A. Randall spoke to them of the early days of the community. The address was followed by a number of patriotic songs.

The celebration at the Hanna school will not take place until Friday afternoon, the postponement of the exercises being made in order to secure B. J. Griswold for an address. Mr. Griswold's time was taken up Thursday at other schools.

The McCulloch, Rudisill, Nebraska, Hoagland, South Wayne, Hamilton and James H. Smart schools had no special speakers but each had its individual exercises such as stories of the history of the fort and singing of national songs.

Hanna School's Original Song.
At the Hanna school the pupils sang a song, "Fort Wayne," written by Miss Haecker, principal of the school, in honor of the occasion. The air was "Marching Through Georgia," and the words follow:
Bring the good old bugle, boys, we'll sing
A little song, that Sherman led
Not about the city fair, for which our love
Is strong.
Fort Wayne, the city of our home, boys,
Fort Wayne, the city of our home, boys,
Fort Wayne! Fort Wayne! The city of our home,
Fort Wayne! Fort Wayne! Wherever we may roam,
We'll spread abroad throughout the land
The fame of dear Fort Wayne,
Fort Wayne, the best in Indiana.

One hundred twenty years ago, October twenty-two, Fort Wayne had its origin, you've heard the story through.
Anthony Wayne had built a fort to shelter brave men true,
And from this fort our city grew, boys,
And so today we celebrate the founding of Fort Wayne,
And hope that in the future we may add unto its fame
By being worthy citizens and trying not in vain
To keep it the best in Indiana.

CARMAN DEFENSE OPENS ITS CASE

Accused Woman Will Take Stand in Her Own Behalf.

Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, on trial as the slayer of Mrs. Louise Bailey, entered the tiny court room in the Nassau county court house here on this, the fourth day of her trial, expecting to take the stand this afternoon as her own chief witness.

Presentation of the state's case it was thought, would be concluded this forenoon. Frank Farrell, who testified that he had seen a woman running from the window through which the shot was fired around the Carman house to the rear was called to the stand for a continuation of his cross examination when court convened this morning. As on preceding days the court room was crowded with women. Elizabeth Carman, the 12-year-old daughter of the defendant, was permitted to sit with her mother at the counsel table.

John J. Graham, Mrs. Carman's lawyer, examined Farrell closely about his movements on the day of the murder. The story related by the witness was practically the same as that given by direct examination.

After an hour and a quarter's cross examination, Farrell was excused and the state announced that it rested its case. George M. Levy, of Mrs. Carman's counsel, then began his opening address.

Mr. Levy's Statement.

"We will prove," said Mr. Levy, "that this crime was not committed by Mrs. Carman, but by a man whose motive we do not know."

Mr. Levy told Mrs. Carman's actions on the day and night of the murder. He said she went to New York during the day and contracted a headache and after dinner went to bed.

"Mrs. Carman will tell you she then heard a shot and some commotion down stairs," he said. This was the first definite declaration from the defense that she was to testify.

"She immediately put on a kimono and leaned over the banister. She did not go into the office because Dr. Carman had forbidden her to do so.

"She will admit all about the telephone instrument and will tell you that she had it installed to find out if the things she had heard about the doctor's relations with women were true. We will show you that there can be no suspicion attached to Mrs. Carman's talks with me because I was a friend of the family and had been for years.

"As to the witness Farrell, we will prove him a liar."

Attack Maid's Testimony.
A vigorous assault upon the testimony given yesterday by Celia Coleman, the Carman maid, was begun by the defense with its first witness, Benedict Cheesman, a negro stenographer of New York. Cheesman testified that he and two negro lawyers called on Celia in New York on July 4 last and that the lawyers questioned Celia about her knowledge of the crime while he took down the questions and answers in shorthand. He identified a typewritten statement as the one she had made. In it Celia said she wanted to tell the whole truth. She was not under oath, however, and she made no mention of Mrs. Carman's having shown her a revolver. The court stenographer read in a monotone the long statement taken down by Cheesman and alleged to have been made by Celia. As he did so the jurors leaned back in their chairs and several closed their eyes. Recess for luncheon was taken at 11:30 o'clock with Cheesman still on the stand.

Farrell Tells His Version.

Frank Farrell, an unemployed stationary engineer, excitable and prodigal with slang typical of the lower east side in New York, was a witness for the state yesterday.

Farrell said he was on his way to the rear of the Carman house to beg for food when he heard a crash of glass and a shot. Looking up he saw a woman dressed in a dark garment that extended from her shoulders to the ground, standing by the window in Dr. Carman's office with one hand holding a wire screen above her head, and the other hand thrust into the window.

Farrell said he was frightened and ran away. He looked back once and saw a flash of white as if the woman had raised her petticoat in order to move faster. On Farrell's cross examination, which was continued after he contradicted himself in a few minor details. On the whole, however, his story remained unshaken.

Mrs. Carman seemed to be amused by Farrell, and the odd, picturesque way he had of saying things and answering questions. But her attitude was different when Celia Coleman was testifying. The defendant leaned far back in her chair and stared constantly at the witness.

the positions occupied by the allies have been maintained.

"On the rest of the front the enemy has delivered only partial attacks. These all have been repulsed, particularly at Fricourt, to the east of Albert; on the plateau to the west of Craonne, in the region of Souain, in the Argonne district, at Four de Paris, southwest of Varennes, in the region of Malancourt in the Woivre district, in the direction of Champlon and at a point southeast of St. Mihiel, in the forest of All.

"We have made slight progress in the Argonne district and in the southern part of the Woivre in the forest of Mortmare.

"Russia: The forward movement of the Russian forces has been positively announced. An important success in the region of Warsaw has driven back the enemy more than 13 kilometers (8 miles). The advances of the Russians at Prangor and to the south of Przemyśl are equally perceptible."

Berlin, Oct. 21.—(Via The Hague and London, Oct. 22.)—Emperor William has conferred upon the Pioneer regiment of Lorraine the right to wear the skull and cross bones on the cap, which heretofore has been a distinction monopolized by the famous Danzig death's head hussars. The action of the emperor was taken at the instance of the crown prince.

The bride was attended by Miss Bertha Zink as honor maid and by Miss Ruth Smock, a sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. STEPS FROM THE NEW DANCES — THE "RIVERSIDE ONE-STEP."

Jeane Allen - Lawrence Durant

"Do you tango?" is a query which will be almost taboo this winter. If you appear on a dance floor it is presumed that you do tango.

But—just for those who DON'T, there is the Riverside one-step.

It is graceful, simple, novel. It combines the three easy elementary positions, the open, the waltz and the side.

The first movement is forward and backward, in the open position. The second is the waltz position, the dancers waltzing sidewise to the left. Then they slip into the side position, dancing forward and back at right angles to the former position, and terminating with a glide and pivot. Then turn and repeat.

The production at the Majestic theater promises to be a real treat for our local German element. "Husarenfieber" is written in a humorous vein and shows the affection of the fair sex for the kaiser's gallant cavalry in a delightful plot. Genuine uniforms of the Hussars are used in the production, which is an elaborate one in every respect. "The Cincinnati German Theater Company" is a new enterprise that has engaged the best talent obtainable in the Fatherland and the critics of towns where the company appeared speak very highly of the presentations of the novelties of it. It is anticipated that the Germans of this city will turn out in such numbers as to crowd the theater to its capacity.

German Hussars will invade our city Wednesday, October 28. "The Cincinnati German Theater Company," a new organization, is touring the country at the present time with a new military comedy named "Husarenfieber" (The Dancing Hussars) with a tremendous success. It is said that the play took exceedingly well with the German audiences in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and other towns.

A quiet wedding took place at the Cathedral on Tuesday morning when Rev. John Quinlan united in marriage Miss Iva Hartwell, of this city, and Mr. Clement B. Wissing, of Vincennes. A cousin of the groom, Miss Loraine Ebner, of Vincennes, and Mr. T. D. Lane, of this city, were bridesmaid and groomsmen. The bride wore a handsome suit of chiffon broadcloth with a stylish hat to correspond. A shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses were an additional feature to the fine appearance and costume of the bride. The wedding breakfast was served in the English tearoom after the church service. One of the guests was the groom's mother, Mrs. Mary Wissing, of Vincennes. Miss Vivian Ebner, a cousin of the groom, and Mrs. Hugh Emerson, an aunt of the bride, were also guests from away. The Fort Wayne guests were the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella Hartwell, Mr. Oliver Hartwell, Mrs. John Pires and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Walsh. The bride and groom went to Chicago on their wedding trip and will make their home in Vincennes. Mr. Wissing is a mechanical engineer and is highly respected. The bride taught school for a few years in Vincennes and has many devoted and admiring friends there.

Felts—Tassler.

A pretty, but quiet wedding took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride when Miss Anna M. Tassler and Mr. Robert Felts were married by Prof. Louis W. Dorn, who is out of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Girdler, of Covington, Ky., were the only attendants and immediate relatives only were present at the ceremony. A little later in the afternoon a number of intimate friends called and assisted in serving an elegant wedding supper. The bride wore a becoming dress of white crepe de chine and bride roses. The bride has been for a number of years a trusted and popular employee of the Boss Glove factory. Mr. Felts is an enterprising and very successful young man. The bride and groom will be at home at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Perth street.

Coffee—Ryan.

Miss Ella P. Ryan and Mr. Joseph Collier were united in marriage on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the First M. E. church by Rev. D. D. Caid, who is the bride's pastor. The bride wore a becoming and pretty gown of white velvet trimmed with shadow lace and a blue satin girdle. The bride held a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Collier are at home to their many friends at 2431 Beach street.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

German Hussars will invade our city Wednesday, October 28. "The Cincinnati German Theater Company," a new organization, is touring the country at the present time with a new military comedy named "Husarenfieber" (The Dancing Hussars) with a tremendous success. It is said that the play took exceedingly well with the German audiences in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and other towns.

AT THE TEMPLE.

The Temple this afternoon is presenting another delightful bill of elaborate vaudeville for the enjoyment of the thousands of patrons of this home of mirth. This program will run until Saturday night. The feature act on the week-end bill is the pleasing little comedy sketch, "The Soldier and the Maid," the clever little vehicle employed by Mardo and Hunter. Robert Hall, who has established himself with an international reputation through his wonderful gift of fashioning bits of verse and setting them to music, "just as he goes along." Hall composes songs about anything he happens to see or think of, unwinding real after real of laugh producing comedy stuff. Davies and Romanelli are on the books for their big acrobatic act. The Romanelli end of this team is one of the famous family by that name, who have been doing acrobatic stunts on vaudeville circuits and in circuses for three generations. Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace's nifty novelty, "The Theatrical Agent," introduce some new wrinkles in ventriloquism, while Marshall and Comby have something decidedly new in the black face comedian line to offer.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Opening this afternoon at the Empress theater for the last half of the week is a bill that filled the Empress theater at Grand Rapids to capacity at every performance during the four part of the week. Manager McCoy, of the Grand Rapids Empress, has wired the local Empress management that "this show is unquestionably the best you have ever played in your house."

The feature act on this bill is Harry Gerard and company in an elaborate scenic musical drama, "The Luck of A Totem." Mr. Gerard will be remembered by Fort Wayne theatergoers as the leading man in "The Alaskan," which was such a great success here. In his present offering he has a miniature musical comedy with a great cast, a real plot and a plentitude of new and catchy songs.

On this new bill at the Empress is an act that will greatly tickle the young people of the city. This is Swanks and rats, who do wonderful feats and are wonderfully well trained. Sampson and Douglas, in their original nonsensical novelty, took at least five bows at each performance at Grand Rapids. Sherman, Van and Hyman were a veritable riot at Grand Rapids, while the Ward Sisters went simply great in the Midway city. The latter team presents a real novelty in the doll girl of vaudeville, who defies the law of gravity and is a puzzle to scientists. No man has yet been able to lift her, but every man in Fort Wayne will get a chance to try the last half of the week and it is possible that some one of them will be able to do so.

THE ORPHEUM.

"OLAF ERICKSON—BOSS."

A Powerful Drama of the North Woods at Orpheum.

A two-reel Rex drama, a powerful play of the north woods, in which the brains of a pretty girl subdue the big, rough strength of the camp bully and boss, will be shown at the Orpheum theater this afternoon and evening. Enacting the leading roles are Bob Leonard and Ella Hall, who have starred in so many successful plays of the woods. The play is directed by Mr. Leonard.

Ford Sterling, the great laugh maker, is featured in a Sterling comedy, entitled "Sweet Service Snitz," which will be an added attraction today. In this play Snitz is in the secret service in the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee on the trail of moonshiners. He discovers some of these men and at the same time starts a lot of trouble for himself.

A fitting program has been arranged by the orchestra and Miss Lyons will appear in a pleasing song.

Tomorrow's Program.

A two-reel Victor drama, entitled "The Bride of Marble House," featuring Rosemary Theby and Harry Myers and a Nestor comedy, "Cupid Pulls a Tooth," with Eddie Lyons and Victoria Forde in the leading roles, will be shown tomorrow.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE GREYHOUND."

Thrilling "Crook" Play Scores Heavily With Jefferson Audiences.

One of the most pronounced hits ever scored by a melodramatic photo-play was registered yesterday at the Jefferson by "The Greyhound," the Armstrong-Miner "crook" play, which had such a successful run on the legitimate stage some time back. There is never a moment when the multitudinous complexities of the plot failed to incite action of the keenest variety. The story itself reveals a complication of circumstances, seemingly hopelessly entangled, but gradually becoming untangled with a smoothness and cleverness that indicates play-writing ingenuity of a high order. The action of the story has its locale at the beginning of the story in two different places and involving two sets of characters, the wealthy Allens, at Palm Beach, and the gang of "The Greyhound," in New York. Ensuing circumstances bring these people together in a strange manner on board an Atlantic liner. The major portion of the action takes place aboard this ship and the highly dramatic passages and moments which follow absorb the attention and hold the onlooker tense with the power of their gripping appeal.

One of the most brilliant casts of the season give this thrilling story a fine portrayal. Elita Proctor Otis, Anna Laughlin, William H. Tooker, Lillian Langdon and David Wall are a few of the names which will be remembered by followers of the legitimate stage, and which appear in the leading roles of this gripping story.

AT THE LYRIC.

With three great acts of vaudeville and three feature reels of pictures and all for the admission fee charged by the ordinary picture houses the Lyric theater for the week-end is setting an even more glittering target for other amusement endeavors to shoot at. Royer and French, whose comic offering has proved one of the sensational hits of the season; Bill Baker, as "The Country Crook," whose absurd and ludicrous sayings and songs simply bubble over with fun and Elvorton with his graceful gun baton and torch juggling and swinging comprise the vaudeville end of the current entertainment. The crowded houses that have been greeting these programs is all that has made it possible for the Lyric to give this character show at the ridiculously low price.

RELIGION GETS IN DIVORCE SUIT

Hubert McComb Says
Spouse Neglects Home
and Has Delusions.

Hubert J. McComb has brought suit in the superior court for divorce from Addie McComb and his complaint is one of the most sensational filed in that court in many years. He says that she has become absorbed in Christian Science and is so thoroughly interested in the study of it that she has for a long time neglected her household duties and devoted most of her time to constantly reading Christian Science books, habitually failing, refusing and neglecting to prepare his meals and during this time has refused and neglected to prepare his meals. Almost constantly, he continues, she has failed to keep her home clean and in habitable condition. The most sensational charge in the complaint is that she has, by reason of her recent belief in Christian Science, wrongfully accused him of going with other women, having her distrust on the fact that because she from time to time suffered some pain her husband had violated some of his marital obligations. He charges that she constantly nagged him, accusing him of imaginary wrongs, errors and transgressions and insisting upon his listening to her read from Christian Science books, which she claimed proved his wrongs, errors and transgressions. On one occasion, says the complaint, she tried to break up another family by going to the husband and accusing the plaintiff, McComb, of having been over friendly with the wife of the man giving as his reasons merely the study of Christian Science and not any facts upon which to base her unwarranted and unjustified suspicions. The wife is charged, by reason of her enthusiasm for Christian Science, with having neglected her children, failing to keep them properly clothed and clean in the neighborhood and failing to prepare food for them at regular times, while she devoted her time to the study of Christian Science. He says that for a week at a time she would refuse to speak to him or have anything to do with him around home. He alleges that she is unfit to have the care and custody of their three children, aged 1, 3 and 6 years, respectively. The superior court has issued an order restraining her from bothering him at his grocery store on Huffman street and from interfering with the care of the children.

Took His Lady Friend to His Home.
In her divorce complaint against Edward W. Jones, filed in the superior court by Emma Jones, the plaintiff charges that her husband often forgot his marital vows, names Viola Stoddill as one of his lady friends and says that on the 1st of last May Jones brought the Stoddill woman to her home, at 248 Larnie avenue, and installed her there on the pretext that she was a boarder. Mrs. Jones says that on the 19th of July she found her husband and the Stoddill woman in a compromising situation and then realized that he brought her to the house not as a roomer, but as his "paramour and concubine." Mrs. Jones says that she was obliged to keep boarders and roomers to get along. She alleges inadequate support for two years. They were married in 1892, separated on the 25th of last July and have six children ranging in age from 11 to 21 years. She asks custody of the minor children and $4,000 alimony. The International Harvester company is restrained in an order of court from paying Jones his salary during pendency of the suit.

Notes of the Courts.
In the circuit court Alfred W. Gerlach has sued Paul V. Crowley and others for $150 for money paid.

In the superior court Mollie Stallbaum sues Frederick Stallbaum for divorce, charging cruel treatment, desertion with other women and association. They were married in September, 1912. She asks the custody of a son one year old.

Harry Evans was found guilty by a jury in the circuit court of entering a house to commit a felony and was sentenced to two to fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Judge Eggeman in the circuit court has granted the defendant an appeal to the supreme court in the case of Frank J. Shields vs. the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad for damages. A jury in June gave Shields a $10,000 verdict. Last week Judge Eggeman overruled the defendant's motion for a new trial.

Herman Bueker announces that in order to give people to whom it will be a convenience an opportunity to pay their taxes in the evening he has arranged to have his office open Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings this week and Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings next week. This is done, not under compulsion of law, but for the convenience of the public.

BANDIT SLAIN IN WAR WITH POSSE

Supposed Bank Robbers and Officers in a Pitched Battle.

Blaine, Wash., Oct. 22.—Two men were killed and one wounded today in a battle between a posse composed of Canadian and American deputy sheriffs, customs officers and immigration inspectors and five outlaws supposed to have robbed the First National bank of Sedro-Woolley, Wash., of $20,000 last Saturday when they killed a boy while firing at citizens on the street. The dead: CLIFF ADAMS, Canadian customs inspector.

Unidentified bandit.
Wounded: James Smith, Canadian customs inspector, hand shattered.

The slain bandit was apparently a foreigner. He carried in a belt $2,500 in gold coin. The other four robbers are surrounded in the woods at Hazelmere, B. C., close to the border. The posse kept a sharp lookout last night, having learned that the robbers after an encounter with officers at Ferndale yesterday were moving aloft toward the Canadian boundary.

Early today the United States customs inspector, Wm. Schaffner, on guard on the old Great Northern right-of-way, saw five men approaching. Instead of halting them he withdrew to the nearest telephone and called up other members of the posse, with the result that when the robbers a half hour later had reached a point further north they were confronted by a formidable body of peace officers commanded by Inspector Burke of the United States immigration service. Burke called on the men to halt. Their leader drew a revolver but before he could fire Burke shot him dead. In a moment firing broke general. Adams fell dead and the robbers fled with the posse in pursuit.

STORM SEWERS THE SOLUTION

Mayor Hosey Says Drainage
Would Relieve.

Mayor W. J. Hosey believes a fundamental mistake has been made in the drainage of the Lakeside and Forest park regions of the city by not providing for storm sewers to take care of the water from the higher ground. The heights now shed a large part of their surface water through the general drainage system, which aggravates the problem of protecting the lower ground. The mayor's idea is that storm sewers that should have no openings from their outer terminals to their mouths in the river, ought to have been constructed. With their heads high above the lower part of the region these sewers could be constructed through superficial trenches to the dikes and force their water by gravity into the Maumee and St. Joseph rivers at a level above any possibility of interference with flood tides in the streams. Such drains would dispose of an immense volume of surface water that now goes through the sewers and that will have to be taken care of by the sewer pumps that are now under construction. Mayor Hosey said that if the pumps now being installed should at any time prove inadequate the correct solution would be to construct supplementary sewers to take care of the water that is shed from the higher ground and that should have no connection at all with the sewers lower down.

Base Ball, Basket

IS ALL FIXED UP

Promising.

THE SCHEDULE.

October 25—South Bend.
November 1—Wabash A. A.
November 8—Evansville North
November 15—First regiment A.
C. Chicago.
Thanksgiving—Corby Hall.

Members of the Friar athletic board can attend with a degree of warranted pride to the football schedule for the remainder of the season, and if they have not been badly fooled, and if they think there is a chance that they have, there will be a line of gridding at League park between now and time to close for the winter that will keep the patrons on edge.

First comes South Bend. South Bend is a village located on the banks of the St. Joseph river near Rochester, Ind., and Niles, Mich. It is connected with both by steam and electric lines, which makes it not so bad to live there.

Its principal products are Oliver plows, Studebaker wagons, Dr. Frank R. Carr, Eddie Wheeler, Eddie Smith and Aggie Grant. It is the principal shopping place for Notre Dame students. Also it has an independent football team that is coming here next Sunday with the sole object of humbling the proud Friars and getting revenge for all of the nasty things that have been printed about the village.

This team is composed of good football players and they had a game last Sunday with a team from a town by the name of Wabash. This Wabash team is some team among the independents and some team in the underground here in some manner to repay their patrons for the patience displayed in the games played so far this season.

Remember the Congerville team? Well, the Evansville aggregation played this bunch and landed on it for a score of 5 to 0. The other clubs are equally as good.

Getting right down to brass tacks the schedule surely looks mighty good and promises some real football. The Friars have been basely deceived now and then but they believe they are ready to show real goods from now on.

Members of the team are scheduled to practice at League park at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

U. S. VETERINARIAN
FINDS CHOLERA AT
POST-MORTEM HERE

Dr. Paul A. Mollan, United States veterinarian co-operating with Purdue university, yesterday found hog cholera when he held a post-mortem at the farm of Paul Zink, residing five miles east of New Haven. The examination was witnessed by fifty farmers in the neighborhood.

Dr. Mollan was assisted by County Agent Henry. When the men arrived at the farm they found several sick hogs penned for the "post." One of the hogs was killed and dissected. The lungs, kidneys, bladder and intestines were found spotted as in the case of cholera. The official spent some time in demonstrating the effects of cholera on the hog and told how the disease may be found in a pen of hogs. Following the examination Dr. Mollan had each farmer present disinfect his shoes with a wash prepared. This was done to prevent carrying disease germs to farms where there is no cholera.

Arrangements are now being made to have Dr. Mollan here within the next two weeks to give a number of illustrated lectures throughout the county on disease prevention. The dates for these have not yet been set.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, October 18, 1914.

SOUTH MICHIGAN IS GOOD ENOUGH

Few Years Ago Grand Rapids
Wanted to Get in Big Minors.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 22.—While the rest of the Central league magnates are busy pouring over the maps trying to determine what would make a good circuit for next year, this much can be said for Grand Rapids: Either the Central must give assurance that it will enter the field with an acceptable eight-club circuit—no six-club affair goes—or Grand Rapids will be found in the Southern Michigan, and the outlook favors the latter.

This year the Southern Michigan weathered the season with ten clubs. Next season it will drop to the less unenviable number of eight. The Lansing and Toledo franchises are owned by the association, while that of Mt. Clemens will revert to the league in the event that its backers fail to dig up 2,000 shares by spring. This situation offers a prospect of Grand Rapids entering the league, provided it gets away from the Central.

A move to the Southern Michigan should promote interest here much more so than getting in the Central league. Grand Rapids is out of line with Central league cities now, due to its topographical location. The jump to Evansville or Terre Haute means the expenditure of much more coin than is received in those cities. Thus the league is a factor that hurt financially this season and would in most any season.

In the Southern Michigan the schedule would be arranged for the teams to travel in a circle and the mileage would be comparatively light. Incidentally, the entrance of Grand Rapids would raise the league's class to B. The salary limit would shoot up, but not to its present height of $25,000. It would probably be placed at $15,000.

With every city in the circuit well known to the fans, the interest would be higher, without a doubt, than it was in the Central league or ever has been. With the salary limit lower the local backers would have a better chance to break even should players develop to a selling stage. The name of Grand Rapids as opponent of any team in the circuit would draw a crowd in itself.

Another question arises, however: Would the Central league hand over the local territory to Grand Rapids? A murmur? Chances are it would not.

What the final outcome will be can only be surmised, but it looks like the South Michigan for Grand Rapids at the present writing.

Brave Pitcher

Boston, Oct. 22.—Edward Townbridge Collins, though he batted only .214 against Boston's big three—Rudolph, James and Tyler—in the last world's series, can lay claim to one record—that of being the lone Mackman who got a safety off all three of Stallings' slab stars.

No Brave was able to bat safely against all six of the hurlers slung into action by the tall tailfin, Charley Schmidt almost being able to do so, but failing when he faced Mack's fifth pitching choice, Bob Shawkey. Capt. John Evers got none of all the men who started games from crummy Connie, but failed to bring against the White Elephants who were called on for relief work, J. Weldon Wyckoff and Hubert J. Fenwick.

No other Brave boosted his batting average at the expense of four pitchers as did Captain John, Gowdy failing to make hits off Plank and Shawkey and Fenwick, Maranville, off Shawkey, Wyckoff and Fenwick, and Deal, off Bender, Shawkey, Wyckoff and Fenwick.

Of the Mackmen only one, Collins, obtained a hit off all three artists used by Stallings, five having to be content with raps off two of the Boston boxmen and the same number off one of them. Baker, Murphy and Walsh binged against Rudolph and Tyler, but were baffled by Charlie Schang and McInnis, able to touch Tyler and James for hits, were unable to keep the ball out of the rear of the fielders when batting against Rudolph.

Evers and Schmidt alone of all the sixteen regulars who swung into action in the big series that has just passed off in history, poked out safeties in each of the four contests. Of the Boston Whites only two, Fenwick and Fenwick, failed to hit Moran in two, Deal in two, Maranville in one and Gowdy in one. Of the Mackmen, Collins missed on Gowdy in one contest, Murphy in two, Oldring in three, Barry in three, Baker in one, McInnis in two, Walsh in one, Strunk in one and Schang in two.

Philadelphia's team batting average in the 1914 series was not as low by ten points as it was in 1905, when Christy Mathewson, Joe McGinnity and Leon Ames confined the Mackmen to a stick credit of .122. Topsy Henshaw led the White Elephants' ablest stickler with a mark of .234.

Base Ball Will Never Die on Account of A Lack of Words.

If baseball ever perishes from off the face of these United States it will not be for lack of words.

Baseball is the wordiest game of all human activities, sewing bees, teas, kaffee klatches, prize fighting and boxing for office not excepted. Baseball takes to words, to any word, more naturally than a duck to water, takes to them and keeps them for its very own.

The servant in his laboratory needing a new word, painfully digs out a few Greek roots or Latin derivatives and adorns them into a word, and then, sounding like a thing that must represent that one thing as long as the race shall run, he is faithful until death, no matter how rotten the word—and some of those scientific words are the essence of rottenness, undoubtedly.

But baseball Ah, fickle, effervescent baseball! When it needs a new word, or believes it does, no time for dead language then. Bing, right onto the first word it needs hope baseball.

No matter what word it is, no matter what the word may have been doing, something big and dignified, something small and trivial, baseball never fails to find a word for it. It is the wordiest game of all human activities, sewing bees, teas, kaffee klatches, prize fighting and boxing for office not excepted. Baseball takes to words, to any word, more naturally than a duck to water, takes to them and keeps them for its very own.

Baseball takes an old language with an old meaning and makes a new of it, and without killing the old language—outside of the word "base"—it makes a new of it, making an entirely new language out of a dead language that is no longer a common language. There is room for much comment on this linguistic feat of baseball. There is room for much comment.

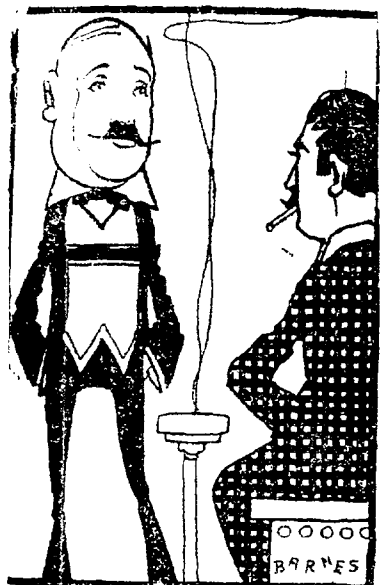

Listen to this, shaken out of a baseball story in an Omaha paper: "Whanged a two-bagger up against the guddy, middle field scenery as an opener for the twelfth round and won a hair-curling match—the IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid in the blood. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant effervescent, lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

BANKERS SEE UPWARD TREND

Convention Hears Hopeful News Regarding Trade and Industry.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 22.—A keynote of optimism regarding the business and financial outlook of the United States has been sounded throughout the sessions of the convention of the American Bankers' association, held here a few days ago.

It is the belief of many bankers that America is at the open door of a sweeping era of commercial prosperity, while even the more conservative bankers express their faith in present signs of renewed commercial activity.

Owen T. Reeves, president of the Bankers' National bank, Chicago, says that there has been more commercial paper sold in Chicago in the last week than at any time since the first of August. Business conditions are rapidly improving in Chicago, he says. Mr. Reeves expressed great hopes for the immediate future.

"I am optimistic as to the immediate future of business and industrial conditions," he said. "I believe we are now on the upgrade. There are indications that clearing house certificates as well as emergency currency is about to be retired and that means less strain and better conditions."

"There has been more commercial paper sold in Chicago in the last week than any time since the first of August. Three or four of our Chicago banks settled their balances in cash. While we in the stockyards districts will be the last to feel the benefit of improved conditions, I am very hopeful and confident for the future."

Booms in Washington.
The last three months of business in the state of Washington exceeds that of the corresponding months of last year, according to W. D. Vincent, vice president of the Old National bank, Spokane. "Business conditions in our section are excellent," said Mr. Vincent.

"Business in Spokane for July, August and September of this year is 15 per cent greater than for the same three months last year. The actual volume of bank transactions shows that figure. We have had a great wheat crop throughout the northwest and good prices, while the grain export has not increased, yet wheat which would have gone out of the country is being milled here and our millers are making the profit. I believe on the whole we have a right to feel confident for the future."

Depression Has Reached Bottom.
That depression in American business as a result of the European war has at last "reached bottom" and that the worst is over, is the belief of Edward J. Bowman, president of the Daly Bank and Trust company, Anaconda, Mont.

"Business and industrial conditions in our part of the country could be much worse," commented Mr. Bowman.

"We prefer to look at the good features and not the bad. Our state has had exceptionally good crops and we are becoming a great grain country. I believe the business depression due to the war has reached bottom and we are hopeful for the future."

Things on Boom in West.
G. E. Bowerman, president of the First National bank, St. Anthony, Idaho, says harvests in Idaho are bringing quick and normal returns and money is easy.

"Business conditions in Idaho are very good, indeed," said Mr. Bowerman. "Our producers of mutton, beef, pork, sugar beets and grain are disposing of their products at good prices and we have felt practically no business depression. There has been plenty of labor to harvest the crops. Railroad building in our vicinity has helped general conditions. While we can not speak for the rest of the country our attitude is one of satisfaction and confidence for the future."

Good prices and sound conditions prevail in the state of South Dakota. Optimistic statements have been made by W. C. McFadden, secretary of the North Dakota Bankers' association.

Said Mr. McFadden: "In a state where the things you have to sell are things to eat, meat, cattle, hogs, grain, we are particularly prosperous at this time. Our products are bringing good prices. Not a bank in our state took out any emergency currency, our crops began to move almost simultaneously with the outbreak of the war and brought in ready money to our farmers and business men."

That the flour mills in the St. Paul district are working to a capacity far beyond normal is the optimistic message brought to the bankers' convention by Newton F. Hawley, treasurer of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings bank of Minneapolis.

Said Mr. Hawley: "Practically all the banks in our section of the country, including Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and banks in the northwest generally show an increase of deposits which is quite marked, and which is the highest in the history of the northwest. Our flour mills have been running far exceeding anything in their history."

SIGNS OF BETTER TIMES.
Texarkana, Ark., Oct. 22.—Building operations in Texarkana this year and work now going on are in excess of last year. There are fifty-seven manufacturing concerns in this city. Seven of these plants, at least three of which do export business, have enlarged their plants from $10,000 upwards. At this writing we are beginning $100,000 worth of street paving, asphalt and wood block. The Texas side of the town completed the installation of a $7,000 incineration plant last month.

The Texarkana Fruit and Truck Growers' association is shipping sweet potatoes and pears in car lots this week as they did last week.

The publication committee of the Presbyterian church is having plans prepared for the erection of a modern three-story with basement mercantile building for their southwestern depository here.

The new W. C. Hardin theater being built at a cost of $40,000 and located in the downtown district is nearing completion.

CURES PIMPLES EASILY.

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past Meyer Bros. Co. have done a big business in selling Hekara, the skin healer that has won so many friends in Fort Wayne. It has been found to heal not only all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but also the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hekara does not help, and its action is so quick that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, Meyer Bros. Co. will sell a liberal-sized jar for 25c. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.—Adv.

'TIS NOT AT ALL LIKE OLDEN DAYS

Candidates for Senate Now Going Directly to the People.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

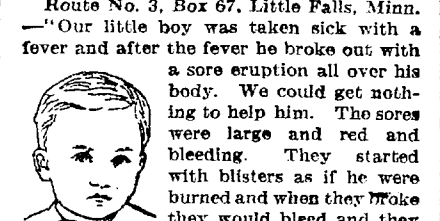

Washington, Oct. 22.—This business of electing United States senators has been greatly altered by the constitutional amendment requiring direct vote of the people. Candidates for the senate now have to go to the people. They used to go to the legislature—and buy it. Now they buy a Ford auto and ask the voters to vote for them.

Returning to Washington after a trip including Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, I find that the candidates for the senate this fall in states where there are real fights, are ramming around from county to county, township to township and country store to country store, shaking the voter by his calloused hand and talking to groups on the street corners. In states like Kansas it is not unusual for the candidates to make ten towns a day, and perhaps more than ten speeches. Victor Murdock is making from six to a dozen. Henry Allen, running for governor, is making fully ten a day. The effort—and it will pretty nearly be successful—is to reach every town and crossroads in the state. Sometimes the auto serves as a stand to speak from, but in Kansas the prevailing mode is to get right down on the sidewalk and talk face to face with the crowd. In Ohio, Harding and Garford are making this kind of a campaign. Gifford Pinchot is making one like it in Pennsylvania. Raymond Robins is covering the state of Illinois in similar fashion and even Roger Sullivan is trying to shake hands with as many as possible of the rural population of the state. The light, reliable automobile and the constitutional amendment have revolutionized the method of choosing senators. In the end they will revolutionize the senate.

The ship-purchase bill, providing for a government-owned merchant marine, reported favorably by the house committee on merchant marine, is now scheduled for serious consideration as the first business after congress reconvenes in December. At least it is President Wilson's desire that this bill be placed among the first measures on the program. In spite of strong opposition on the part of private shipping interests, the president is determined that this bill be adopted. He believes the present time most auspicious for starting a real American merchant marine. Such a fleet of government-owned ships not only would carry American commerce, but would serve as auxiliary naval vessels for transport or other war purposes in case of need. The president's bill is modeled on the existing plan by which the government runs the steamship lines between Panama and New York. The Panama railroad steamship line is now

SORE ERUPTION ALL OVER CHILD'S BODY

Started with Blisters. Itched So Could Not Sleep. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Three Weeks Was All Healed.

Route No. 3, Box 67, Little Falls, Minn.
"Our little boy was taken sick with a fever and after the fever he broke out with a sore eruption all over his body. We could get nothing to help him. The sores were large and red and bleeding. They started with blisters as if he were burned and when they broke they would bleed and they itched so that he could not sleep for some time. We had him all tied up with bandages and then we had to soak them off every day. We had a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which soon gave him relief. We used the Cuticura Soap to wash him with and used the Ointment afterwards and in about two weeks he was able to sit up. Now he is as well as can be for in three weeks he was all healed by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) George Walters, Jan. 29, 1914.

a department of the Panama Railroad company. Under it the government operates five steamships, the Ancon, Colon, Panama, Alliance and Advance. The Cristobal, which the company has been operating, was turned over to the quarter-master's department to bring home American tourists from Europe. On this line, before the government owned it, one rate of freight on staple commodities was $8 a ton. The government reduced it and still maintains it at $5.50 a ton. Points contiguous to the canal zone were paying the $8 rate and private companies at these points maintained the same rate. Since then they have come down to $6 a ton. The government vessels charge $20 and $30, as against a private rate of $72 for passenger transportation between the zone and the states. These facts and others were pointed out by Congressman Bryan, of Washington, in a speech pleading the support of the progressives in congress to President Wilson in his effort to pass the bill.

How To Get Rid of a Bad Cough

A Home-Made Remedy that Will Do It Quickly, Cheap and Easily Made

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is quickly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex. This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex"—do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TOOK A LOOK AT SUGAR FACTORY

General Manager W. B. Wood and Local Officials Visit Decatur.

General Manager W. B. Wood and some of the division officials of the Grand Rapids and Indiana spent the forenoon at Decatur, the guests of the management of the beet sugar plant. General Manager Wood came down from Grand Rapids on train No. 4 and at 7:30 o'clock this morning his private car and an engine made the run to Decatur as a special train. Returning the special reached the city in time to attach Mr. Wood's car to No. 9, at 1 o'clock, and take it to Grand Rapids. Division officials with General Manager Wood to Decatur were Supt. B. H. Hudson, Trainmaster R. E. Casey, Division Engineer C. L. Barnaby and Commercial Agent E. O. Wagner. At certain portions of the year the Decatur beet sugar plant is the greatest freight producer on the Southern division of the G. R. & I. Hundreds of car loads of freight are handled in and out of the sugar company's grounds every week and to facilitate the movement, the G. R. & I. keeps a switch engine and crew constantly in service there.

Pennsylvania Erecting Shop Repair Out-pat for Week.

This is the closing day of the week's operations at the Pennsylvania shops because of danger of exceeding the appropriation for shop expenses for October. If the work is operated the usual number of hours, the output during the thirty-two hours the men worked was nearly as great as was the output of some of the preceding weeks when the shops were in operation five days. The engines receiving general repairs during the four days were Nos. 1091, 9990, 9436, 7512, 9000 and 7145. The shops close at 4 o'clock this afternoon to resume work again Monday morning.

CHANGING YARD TRACKS.

Pennsylvania Has Big Gang of Foreigners at Work.

Ninety-eight laborers, all of foreign birth, and their three foremen engaged in making improvements in the Pennsylvania yards between Calhoun street and Hanna street, present a scene of activity not common these dull times. The company is eliminating a curve at the beginning of the elevation at Lafayette street and to accomplish it all of the several tracks at that point and some of those on the yards farther east have to be moved. To hasten the work all the men that could be advantageously engaged at it are on the job. When this improvement is made trains will have less difficulty in getting up the grade into the elevation.

WILL HAVE 12 CAR TRAIN.

From the information he is able to get in advance concerning the probable number of excursionists to Cleveland next Saturday, District Passenger Agent F. P. Parnin believes there will be a satisfactory crowd. He has ordered twelve cars for the special which leaves this city at 7 o'clock in the morning and other cars to be picked up at Fox

HEALTH, WRINKLE-FREE SKIN EASY TO HAVE. A dull, drab, muddy complexion or an over-red, blotchy, pimply or freckled skin can be a quite simple, harmless and inexpensive method, he changed to one of flower-like radiance and purity. One ounce of common mottled wax, sold by druggists generally, will remove the most unsightly complexion in from one to two weeks. By its remarkable absorptive power, the withered, faded or discolored layer of thin film-skin which hides the healthier skin underneath, is gently peeled off in tiny, almost invisible particles. This is done so gently there is no inconvenience and no trace is left on the skin except that of enhanced beauty. The wax is smeared on like cold cream before retiring, and removed in the morning with warm water. If the skin be wrinkled or saggy, a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered salixite in 1/2 pt. witch hazel will be found most effective. Combining both astringent and tonic properties, this tightens the skin and braces up its supporting muscles.

FINDS INTEREST RATE LESSENER

Bringing Out Other Side of Plea for Advance in Freight Rates.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Cross examination of John F. Oldham, who spoke for the Investment Bankers' association at the interstate commerce commission hearing today on the application of the eastern roads for higher freight rates, developed testimony that the rate of interest on fixed charges of the railroads had dropped during 1913 to 4.44 from an average of 4.80 for the ten years preceding, and that the average dividend rate for 1913 was 6.48, as against a ten year average of 5.43.

In examination of figures presented by Mr. Oldham, Louis D. Brandies, the commission's counsel, drew the conclusion that the amount of capital required by the roads to earn a dollar on a year's operation had decreased during 1913. Mr. Oldham insisted, however, that the falling interest charge did not indicate the roads had borrowed money at a lower rate. Under examination by Clifford Thorne, counsel for several shipper organizations, it was developed that the decline in net income of the railroads had been fractional and that the roads had been maintained at a higher level during 1913 than during previous years.

IN NO HURRY TO QUIT VERA CRUZ

Washington, Oct. 22.—American troops seem sure to remain in Vera Cruz until the friction between Gen. Carranza and the Agues Calientes convention is adjusted, in the opinion of officials here who base their conclusions on today's advice to the state department.

Carranza has referred back to the convention, the administrative questions incident to withdrawing the troops, although he had submitted the same question to the convention before it voted itself the supreme authority in Mexico and it had instructed him to comply with the proposals of the United States for protection of clerics, Mexicans who had served Gen. Funston, and others. Carranza has since questioned the sovereignty of the convention and it is believed here he resents being instructed by what he considers an advisory body.

ESTRANGED PAIR AIR THEIR WOES

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coe Put Domestic Drama on City Court Stage.

After the hand of the law had delved somewhat into the affairs of Walter and Edith Coe and had brought their troubles to light, it did not appear that anything was much the matter with them and the city court gave Coe a chance to support his wife. Coe was arrested in Marion Wednesday and brought back to Fort Wayne by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Coe charging desertion. Mrs. Coe, who is a very pretty woman of engaging manners, said she and Coe were married in Minneapolis last April. He is a salesman in northern Indiana territory for an automobile tire manufactory, and a month ago wired his wife to come to Fort Wayne. She borrowed money of a little brother, hurried down here, was with her husband for a day at a downtown hotel and then he left her and had not since been back until he came under arrest. She has been cared for in good homes by persons who pitied her condition. In court each had a tale to tell and neither tale amounted to much. The wife displayed a telegram from Coe at Indianapolis, saying, "I am off of you forever," and telling her to go her way. Evil gossip had got the husband's ear, which, not singular, he had destroyed his wife's confidence by broken promises. A half hour heart to heart talk in the privacy of an ante-room to the court seemed to turn on the sunshine and at least the wife will get some support and a car ticket home if she wants to go.

Other City Court Cases. Joseph Kaplan was fined $10 and costs and given a suspended sentence of thirty days in jail for petty larceny. He took an appeal and filed a bond. He was convicted of stealing $10 worth of bricks from John Bales, a contractor, who was doing some work next to Kaplan's property on East Main street. It took half an hour, no end of talk in two or three languages and no straining whatever of justice to turn Buzer loose on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Tony Panzoni, his father-in-law. The men are Foles, and reside on John street, where the police were called by Tony. Buzer's wife completely exonerated, "I am off of you forever," and telling her to go her way. Evil gossip had got the husband's ear, which, not singular, he had destroyed his wife's confidence by broken promises. A half hour heart to heart talk in the privacy of an ante-room to the court seemed to turn on the sunshine and at least the wife will get some support and a car ticket home if she wants to go.

UNIVERSAL COFFEE PERCOLATOR

Makes the BEST coffee because there is no boiling to bring out the bitter taste. No escaping steam to dissipate the aroma.

The "Universal" is the QUICKER way, because the automatic valve—a feature no other percolator possesses—forces the water through the coffee while it is gradually increasing in temperature.

The "Universal" is extracting the nutritious properties of the coffee bean with lukewarm water while other machines are getting ready to start with boiling water.

Simple in construction—easy to clean. By raising the glass dome all the working parts are removed from the machine at one operation. No overflow, the boiling process is eliminated, and requires no watching after placing on the stove.

Avilla, Ind., Oct. 22.—Grant Warner, aged 45, a farmer, widely known in southeastern Noble county, was found dead Wednesday afternoon in his home, two miles west of the village of Swan, by Ray Duncer and Marvin Penrod, who had made a search for him. Warner had not been seen for several days and the anxiety of his friends had been aroused. It is believed he had been dead a day or two when his body was discovered. Warner had been living alone since the death of his wife eight years ago. Death was probably due to heart disease. He was born and had always resided in the vicinity of his late home.

FIGHTING NIGHT AND DAY

BERLIN IS SILENT AS ALLIES MAKE CLAIMS

London, Oct. 22.—(1:57 p. m.)—One of those who make up the allied armies in the fighting zone in the neighborhood of the Belgian border is quoted as having said yesterday: "We shall most certainly be in Brussels under a month. I, myself, expect, in a fortnight."

This probably represents the impression obtained here, even though in the mass of vague assertions regarding the process of the fighting in the north of France there is to be found little of a positive character or demonstrable proof of any specific success so decisive in consequences as to constitute a real victory or defeat.

Meanwhile the anticipation of a German evacuation of the Belgian coast under pressure is still unrealized, though if the British fleet is able for a little time longer to maintain undisturbed its present point of vantage, it can presumably render the few miles immediately adjoining the sea untenable.

Whether the next work of equals in this part of Belgium will enable the monitors to carry their success further inland has not yet transpired.

Fighting Most Stubborn.

The fighting from all accounts is as stubborn as in any stage of the war thus far. Every foot of the battle ground in West Flanders has been contested. Every village is taken and retaken. The rush tactics which characterized the first part of the campaign are being repeated and both sides claim that they regularly repulse these onslaughts. Judging from the French official communication the allies have acquired "a holding" habit which was lacking in the earlier stages of the war when they were admittedly in a state of unpreparedness.

Berlin Is Silent.

The reticence of the German intelligence department, however, largely baffles the attempts of unbiased observers to judge the actual situation which when Berlin is heard from may assume an entirely different aspect. A rumor comes from Ostend by way of Holland that the allies have succeeded in blowing ing up the railroad between Bruges and Ghent. It is quite possible it is stated here that cavalry scouts already are in that vicinity.

Stories differ as to the fate of Prince Maximilian of Hesse, whose body is reported to have been found in northern France by French troops. A later report from Berlin says that the prince was wounded.

ALLIES MAINTAIN LINES.

French Official Statement Optimistic But Guarded.

Paris, Oct. 22.—(2:45 p. m.)—The official announcement issued this afternoon by the French war office says the positions occupied by the allies in Belgium and northern France have been maintained in spite of the attacks of the enemy.

The text of the announcement follows: "On our left wing German forces in considerable strength have continued their violent attacks, particularly in the vicinity of Dixmude, Warneton, Armentieres, Radinghem and La Bassée, but

HAS RELEASED TANK STEAMER

England Yields to Protest by American State Department.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British ambassador, was informed today by the London foreign office that the American tank steamer John D. Rockefeller, seized by British cruisers, had been released.

The ambassador received no word concerning the other American ships, the Brindilla and Plutonia. His advice were communicated at once to the white house and that was taken in official circles as an indication of the personal interest President Wilson has taken in the case.

The Rockefeller, like the Brindilla and the other two ships, carried illuminating oil, which Great Britain is understood to have declared contraband. She was seized and taken to islands off the coast of Scotland.

The ambassador's advice were that the Rockefeller's cargo was consigned merely "to order" at Copenhagen and that the British cruisers which took her had difficulty in establishing its destination.

ANOTHER PROTEST MADE.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Acting Secretary Lansing, of the state department, announced today that the United States had protested to Great Britain against the seizure of the American steamer Brindilla, now at Halifax, Nova Scotia, as unjustifiable and demanding her immediate release.

CUSHING GIVEN A PRISON TERM

Involuntary Manslaughter is Verdict Against Kendallville Man.

Albion, Ind., Oct. 22.—Guilty of involuntary manslaughter was the finding of the jury in the Noble circuit court against Charles L. Cushing, wealthy Kendallville man, held for the shooting of Howard McLaughlin, 17 years old, whom he suspected of planning a raid on the Cushing melon patch in August last.

The verdict was returned at 3 o'clock this morning, and Judge Wrigley was called from his bed to receive the finding. The jury went out at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

It is expected that a sentence of from two to twenty-one years will be inflicted on Cushing this afternoon, and he will be taken to the Michigan City prison tomorrow. The only time Cushing has shown emotion was during the delivery of Judge Wrigley's charge to the jury, when the prisoner broke down and wept. Because of continuous disorder yesterday afternoon Judge Wrigley ordered the court room cleared.

OLD FORT DAY IS OBSERVED

School Pupils Commemorate Historic Founding of Fort Wayne.

SOME PROGRAMS MOST ELABORATE

Outdoor Enactment of City's History in Lakeside Park Pretentious.

Celebration of the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of the founding of Fort Wayne was general in the public schools of the city on Thursday and in every one of the buildings exercises were held designed to acquaint the children with the early struggles of the pioneers who prepared the way for the establishment of one of Indiana's most prosperous and beautiful cities.

Dealing almost exclusively with the battles and treaties with the Indians, the history of Captain Wells, Little Turtle, Anthony Wayne and the other great men who stood out prominently in the stirring times of more than a century ago plays and programs were built about them and great history lessons were vividly impressed upon the minds of the rising generation.

Lakeside Most Elaborate.

At Lakeside Normal school the most elaborate program of the day was held in the afternoon when a dramatic and beautiful celebration was given in Lakeside park by the children of the school and the pupils of the normal department.

Miss Flora Wilber and Mrs. John Moring directed the preparation of the play which was written by the normal students and with beautiful weather and setting most appropriate for the staging of the outdoor drama and a vast audience looking on, history beginning with the period of 1614, was illustrated in a most pleasing and impressive manner.

Miss Helen Ehle, as History, called upon the spirits of the past to show her the epochs through which the present city passed from the times of its settlement down to the present. The spirits called upon the classes of the school and each enacted a dramatic scene built upon

SENATOR BORAH HERE TONIGHT

Republicans Will Stage a Big Meeting at the Majestic.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, will be the principal speaker at a big meeting to be held by the republicans at the Majestic theater this evening. B.

Paul Mossman will preside, and it is expected the event will attract republicans from all over the district. State Chairman W. H. Hays, will also be present, and an automobile parade is scheduled as a preliminary spectacle.

Charles R. Lane, republican nominee for congress, will also speak at the Majestic meeting.

Democrats Friday Night.

Fort Wayne democrats are making extensive preparations for Friday evening, when Governor Ralston, W. H. O'Brien, Thomas Taggart and the democratic state candidates will come to Fort Wayne, and Governor Ralston will deliver the principal address.

Noonday talks by democratic speakers at the various shops and factories in the city are being well attended and marked by splendid interest.

Senator Borah will reach the city at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Toledo, and a delegation of local republicans, headed by District Chairman Vesey, will meet him at the Wabash station.

CONGRESS TO END TONIGHT

Agreement for Adjournment at 6 O'clock Finally Reached.

WAR TAX BILL ENGAGES HOUSE

Conference Report Adopted by Rising Vote of 126 to 52.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Adjournment of congress at 6 o'clock tonight was arranged by administration leaders of both houses today and a formal resolution to that effect was prepared. There were some rumblings of a filibuster by southern members who want legislation to relieve the cotton situation, but the democratic leaders seemed sure of their plan.

When the house met at 10 o'clock it began killing time by reading the journal in full while awaiting the report of the conference on the disputed points in the war revenue bill. The senate was ready to follow action of the house. Seemingly the adjournment was assured.

When the conference report was finally brought in by Majority Leader Underwood one hour was allowed for discussion. The reduction of the senate tax on beer and elimination of the five cents a gallon tax on rectified spirits removed practically all opposition.

The final agreement on the bill was reported by a strict party vote, republicans voting against it. The conference restored the house provision that the new taxes should go into effect the day after passage of the bill.

The conference report was adopted by a rising vote of 126 to 52.

The conference report went over to the senate for action and the house took up the cotton warehouse bill. Representative Henry, of Texas, produced a letter from President Wilson expressing the hope that congress would pass the bill before adjournment. While Leader Underwood attempted to get up the adjournment resolution Mr. Henry forced roll calls and began a mild filibuster to force action on the bill.

When the report arrived in the senate Senator Smith, of Georgia, held it

ITALIANS LAND TROOPS IN AVLONA.

London, Oct. 22.—(4:30 p. m.)—A dispatch to the Evening News from Venice, says: "A company of Italian marines landed at Avlona today. The Italian 47th infantry stationed at Lecce is said to be ready to embark for Avlona." The Italian embassy has not confirmed the foregoing.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—Five men wanted for the robbery of a hotel in Terre Haute, Ind., of $1,435 in cash and two watches were arrested here early today, after making the trip from Terre Haute in a high power automobile. The Terre Haute police had traced the men to Brazil, and then notified the Indianapolis police. The emergency automobile of the local police department loaded with detectives was sent to the edge of the city to meet the robbers. They were captured without trouble and it was said, all the money and the two watches were recovered.

Officers were expected from Terre Haute today to return the prisoners to that city.

SAYS U. S. STEEL'S HANDS ARE CLEAN

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 22.—Resuming his arguments for the defense today in the federal suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation on the ground that it violates the anti-trust law, Richard V. Lindabury in the United States district court continued to describe the conduct of the corporation after its organization. At the outset, he denied that the earnings of the corporation were excessive, but declared on the contrary they were quite ordinary.

The corporation has not attempted to coerce consumers or dealers into trading with it exclusively, he asserted, nor has it otherwise restricted their freedom of action.

"If there ever was a record of clean dealing and honorable business methods we have it here," said counsel.

RUSH FROM ANTWERP CHECKED BY ALLIES

London, Oct. 22.—Reports that the Germans had evacuated Ostend and were retreating toward Bruges and that their West Flanders army from the vicinity of the coast south to Courtrai was being hammered into a zig-zag line by the combined efforts of the British navy and the British, French and Belgian troops, seemed to coincide at so many points today, that in the absence of claims of any advances from Berlin, opinion here was that the fighting among the canals of northern Belgium, which followed the German rush from Antwerp had been generally against the invaders.

At any rate the Germans have been driven back as far as Thourout and some dispatches say that their communications in the middle of West Flanders have been so disorganized that troops from Ghent are marching direct to Courtrai rather than join their comrades to the north who are in danger of being cut off.

The evacuation of Ostend was not confirmed this morning but from Berlin itself came a report that British ships were shelling the town, while another dispatch said that the war vessels had destroyed the village of Slupe, on the canal between Ostend and Bruges, where it is said the Germans have their headquarters. At Slupe, only a few miles northeast of Slupe in 1340, a British fleet achieved a victory over the French.

English Use Monitors. It is clear now that ships have been playing an important part in the warfare along the coast. The admiralty officially announces that the monitors Severn, Hummer and Mersey not only bombarded the German position south of Ostend, but that detachments of machines with machine guns were landed. It is reported from other sources that eleven war vessels in all are taking part in the operations but what they are is not announced. The monitors return, that little from Lincoln's "cheese box" in the American civil war and so far apparently they have been able to dodge the submarine attacks.

How the German submarines got to Ostend is unknown but presumably they crept down the Dutch coast, submerging whenever sighted by a British patrol and then picked their way carefully through the British mine fields. With the fighting along the Belgian coast hardly more than seventy miles from Dover that area of hostilities necessarily holds chief interest with the British public; though, according to last night's Paris official communication, there were violent actions here and there along more than a 70-mile front extending almost due south and north from Nieuport to La Bassee. Everywhere the allies claimed to be holding their positions.

Austrians to Aid Germans. Reinforcements for the German right have been spoken of daily since Ostend was taken and today comes a report that Austrian forces were being transferred from the Italian frontier for this purpose.

Rumors that Emperor William is seriously ill are filtering in here via Paris and this with a report that a German fleet is off Palermo, Sweden, are among the usual crop of unconfirmed narratives that London is discussing.

From the east comes a claim of the Austrians that they have retaken the last point in the Carpathians held by the Russians and it was added that there is "now no enemy on Hungarian soil."

A retort that the Germans have been routed south of Warsaw was the gist of Petrograd's latest communication.

PARIS SAYS ALLIED LINES ARE UNBROKEN

Paris, Oct. 22.—The latest dispatches from the battle front in France and Belgium told just enough to make the public eager for more. The allies' positions having been everywhere maintained against the onslaughts of the enemy today's official statement of the war office was the object of hope on the part of the French.

Meanwhile the fighting forces, before resuming the contest, sought anew to discover the weak spot in the lines of one another. The maxim of Napoleon's memorial, "Do not attack in the front the positions you can obtain by turning," is apparently a maneuver to which the Germans are adhering in what appears to be a supreme effort.

In this battle of the north the allied armies, supported by an English squadron, have thus far successfully withstood repeated and fierce attacks of the enemy. The fields of battle in Belgium, Flanders, Picardy, Champagne, Argonne, Lorraine, Vosges and as far as Alsace continue to be the scenes of the combats where the allies have made gains, but a real decisive result is yet awaited.

Further news from Lille toward which the French and English have been advancing slowly was expected during the day. The sudden resumption of activity by the Germans at points where they were not expected has caused a discussion of the object of these efforts. For instance, east of the Argonne, where the enemy has been silent a sufficiently long time, a sudden rush was made on Vauquois, which is perched on a mountain peak. Also questioned is the purpose of the new attempt in the Woevre near Champlon where they have been unable to dislodge the French from the heights of the Meuse and equally unsuccessful in driving the latter from the buckle formed by the river south of St. Mihiel.

In these somewhat desultory movements, Lieut. Col. Rousset, the French military critic, says he had supposed the Germans were seeking once more to intimidate the French as operations referred to were without connection or military relation. The official communications, however, he adds, reveal another purpose. This was to detract the attention of the allies from the principal battlefield, which is in the north. The furious resumption of the offensive against the line from Nieuport to Dixmude and La Bassee can leave no doubt of the German plan, Rousset declares.

Do You Read Ads?

Have you any conception what they are for?

There are two kinds of retail store advertising.

- (1) That which announces bargains and cut prices—
- (2) That which describes new goods and new styles.

The latter is as much news as the latest war report or legislative activities.

It is, perhaps, the most valuable part of the paper to you.

It enables you to know what you want before you make a purchase, so you will not be persuaded to buy what you don't want on the spur of the moment

Voliva Orders Followers to Resist Vaccination by Health Board.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Followers of Willard Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City, were ordered today to resist vaccination by state health authorities even if they were forced to do so with shot guns.

"If the state authorities come here and try to vaccinate us we'll take shot guns and blow them where they belong. They will have to have the state militia to force it on us," Voliva declared.

Voliva's instructions were delivered after Dr. C. E. Crawford, state health inspector, had attempted to vaccinate to check the spread of smallpox in Zion City. Strict quarantine was placed over the ten cases now existing there.

SPECTATORS FOIL ATTEMPT TO SLAY

New York, Oct. 22.—An attempt to assassinate Richard C. Harrison, first deputy commissioner of the department of docks, as he was about to enter his office this morning was frustrated by the quick action of spectators, who overpowered Mr. Harrison's assailant and after a fight lasting several minutes took away a pistol.

The assailant was supposed to be John O'Connor, a discharged employee. He was locked up.

Paris, Oct. 22.—(9:50 a. m.)—A Havas agency dispatch from Petrograd says that the Russian minister of finance has been authorized by imperial decree to place short treasury bonds amounting to $60,000,000, on the English market.

WARSHIPS SWEEP KAISER'S LINES

London, Oct. 22.—(6:30 a. m.)—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Chronicle in a dispatch dated Wednesday, concerning the fighting on the Belgian coast, says:

"For three days British war ships have been bombarding the German troops, who are trying to reach Nieuport. With the co-operation of the French artillery the Germans were driven back on Middlekerke, where the invaders are entrenching themselves.

"The Germans today bombarded Nieuport from Middelkerke, their attack being vigorously repelled by the allies and the warships. The battle is not yet decided. Many villages have been shattered and are in flames."

LISBON OUT OF COMMUNICATION

London, Oct. 22.—(6:21 a. m.)—The Havas correspondent at Oporto, Portugal, has sent the following dispatch: "Telegraphic and telephonic communication with Lisbon has been cut. A number of unexploded bombs have been found in railway stations."

A revolutionary outbreak in Portugal was reported yesterday. The outbreak occurred at Braga and Mafrá and was attributed to royalists whose object was said to have been to prevent Portugal joining the allies. It was officially announced at Lisbon that the uprising was promptly put down.

DENVER IS DYING AT THE HOSPITAL

Was Hit by Motorcycle Rider. den by Moulder Clark, Who Appears.

Pearl Denver, aged 35 years, is believed to be dying at St. Joseph hospital of a fractured skull, received at 6:30 Wednesday evening when he was run into and knocked down by a motorcycle ridden by Moulder Clark, aged 21, an employee at the Mayflower mills.

The accident occurred on the Portage avenue road west of the city and Denver was struck from the rear as he and Carl Greager, a fellow employee on the Portage avenue concrete paving contract, were proceeding along the highway.

The motorcycle did not stop and his identity was not known until Thursday morning, when inquiries directed by Chief of Police Lenz developed the man's name. Motorcycle Officer Dan Kintz was then sent to the Mayflower Mills to bring him in. Meanwhile, Clark appeared at police headquarters accompanied by Judge Edward O'Rourke, whom he had employed as counsel. He said he had run into a man on Portage avenue, but did not know that he had badly injured him until Thursday morning.

He said the man was zigzagging in front of him and that the accident was unavoidable. He declared he was not running at high speed. Clark's home is at Kingman, near Terre Haute, and he is residing here at 1023 West Main street.

The accident occurred near the south end of Portage avenue, which is still closed to traffic. Greager called police headquarters for aid and Officers Fry and Huick went out in the ambulance. Denver was unconscious and was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where Police Surgeon J. Frank Dinnon attended him. An operation was performed at midnight in the hope of saving his life. Denver's home is in Kokomo and he has been employed here by Davenport & McElroy, concrete paving contractors.

Clark has not been detained by the police. He has given assurance that he will remain in the city and his employment of counsel and appearance voluntarily at police headquarters has given confidence in his word.

Clark says that when he struck Denver he was so much frightened he lost his head and sped away.

Denver has two fractures of the skull, one near the top and another at the base. Police Surgeon Dinnon says it is almost impossible that the man should recover, though he may survive for several days.

Pennsylvania Machinist C. L. Horner was taken sick in the shops this morning and had to go home.

DESTRUCTION IS MOST TERRIBLE

London, Oct. 22.—The correspondent of the Times at Boulogne, under date of Wednesday, describes the desperate fighting of the past week in which the Germans have been driven back from village to village to the outskirts of Lille. He says:

"The destruction has been terrible. Some of the villages have been shelled by both the allies and the Germans and many non-combatants have been killed. A whole family was found dead in one house. In one of the villages 500 dead Germans were found after the fighting. The cartridges in their possession, it was noted, were of the old Snider type, with large lead bullet.

"During some of the attacks the allies had only time to make rough trenches a couple of feet deep and were obliged to lie in them at full length. They gained much ground but are now coming in touch with the main German position at Lille and are digging themselves in to hold their ground until necessary reinforcements can reach them."

WARSHIP SHELLS WIPE OUT TOWN

London, Oct. 22.—8:00 a. m.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Dunkirk says that the British naval bombardment has utterly destroyed the town of Seyer, which the Germans held in force. The house occupied by the German headquarters staff was blown to bits. The naval marksmanship, according to the dispatch, was superb. A British signal man in a stationary balloon was shot by the Germans.

Travelers from Antwerp, says the Rotterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company, report that on Tuesday night 10,000 German marines, with machine guns, left Antwerp in a southerly direction. Later a long file of carts bearing wounded, entered the town.

The garrison of Antwerp has been greatly reduced and only a few policemen are on duty. Pounding in the suburbs is increasing. The Germans are dealing severely with plunderers when they are caught. Recently a man who was detected forcing an entrance to a house was shot.

The Germans are on the friendliest terms with the population. Movement of troops is reported from Ghent.

Twenty-five houses of poured concrete are being erected in Berlin, Ontario.

Men Who Are in War Game Today

COLONEL SEELY.

Gen. Von Hindenburg

Here's the quiet, forceful man of the Kaiser's general staff. He's General Von Hindenburg, the fierce leader who is holding ing in check a vastly superior force of Russians in East Prussia. When it is said that this army of the czar is commanded by no less a personage than the brilliant General Rennenkampf, Von Hindenburg becomes doubly conspicuous. For on Rennenkampf Russia largely depends to force an entrance into the German empire.

So far the divisions and brigades of Von Hindenburg have frustrated invasion by the forces of the czar.

Capable and resourceful, a stern disciplinarian, this German leader retains wonderful control over his army and in his ability to move his men quickly lies the secret of his success.

The Kaiser firmly believes that decisive defeat or victory on this side will end the war, so he has chosen Von Hindenburg, the capable, to make it victory.

LECTURE BY PROF. WOOD.

Demonstration at Elks' Temple Given by Former Associate of Edison.

What is considered as an important event among those who are interested in the most modern scientific and mechanical developments is the coming of Prof. Montravelle M. Wood next Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Young Men's Forward Congress, to give a demonstration and lecture at the Elks' temple.

The practical uses of the monorail car, the gyroscope and ultra-violet rays will be demonstrated by Prof. Wood by the use of apparatus which will prove of deep interest to all, whether or not they are students of these matters. Science is moving rapidly these days in the development of forces which are comparatively unknown to the average person that the opportunity to learn of them from a high authority should be made an occasion of importance in an educational way.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

11 Chronicles 20:1-13.

1 It came to pass after this also, that the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and with them other beside the Ammonites, came against Jehoshaphat to battle.

2 Then there came some that told Jehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea on this side Syria; and, behold, they be in Hazazon-tamar, which is Engedi.

3 And Jehoshaphat feared, and set himself to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah.

4 And Judah gathered themselves together, to ask help of the Lord: even out of all the cities of Judah they came to seek the Lord.

5 And Jehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord, before the new court.

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heaven? and rulest not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee?

7 Art not thou our God, who didst drive out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abraham thy friend forever?

8 And they dwell therein, and have built thee a sanctuary therein for thy name, saying,

9 If, when evil cometh upon us, as the sword, judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we stand before this house, and in thy presence, (for thy name is in this house), and cry unto thee in our affliction, then thou wilt hear and help.

10 And now, behold, the children of Ammon and Moab and mount Seir, whom thou wouldst not let Israel invade, when they came out of the land of Egypt, but they turned from them, and destroyed them not;

11 Behold, I say, how they reward us, to come to cast us out of thy possession, which thou hast given us to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us; neither know we what to do: but thine eyes are upon these.

13 And all Judah stood before the Lord, with their little ones, their wives, and their children.

New War on Illegal Drugs.

Information from Indianapolis is to the effect that a war on the illegal sale of habit-forming drugs has been launched there by agents of the state board of pharmacy, and that it will probably extend to other sections of Indiana as well. Investigators are said to have discovered unmistakable evidence that extensive sales of morphine, heroin and similar dopes are being made at various points in the state by those who are willing to take chances on the severe penalties because of the reputedly heavy profits in pandering to the drug appetites of those in its clutches.

It has long been evident that nothing short of eternal and unrelaxing vigilance will stamp out the drug evil. The crusade in Fort Wayne a year or more ago was tremendously beneficial in results, but control of the situation will depend solely on official watchfulness. We trust the state board may take hold of the matter in earnest.

The drift of public sentiment in favor of the Indiana constitutional convention next year has stirred to action opponents of the plan, and voters may expect presently to be deluged by circularized arguments against the movement. These will voice the sentiments of those who may sincerely believe a new constitution unnecessary for Indiana, but for the most part they are apt to represent the activity of the special interests which fear governmental reforms are pretty certain to give them a black eye. That is precisely the reason why the constitutional convention should have the active and earnest support of the average voter.

With Beveridge, Borah, Ralston and Marshall scheduled in Fort Wayne for the closing days of the campaign, there will be no lack of opportunity to display whatever particular brand of political exuberance you may be cherishing. In the olden days political enthusiasm was gauged by the length of torchlight parades and the vociferousness of the cheering that attended the demonstrations. Now it is different. The voter is just as earnest regarding his political convictions, but he is not so demonstrative in his expressions. He is reading and thinking more, but shouting less, which is unquestionably a vast improvement over the old way of doing things.

Attorneys defending the steel trust in the government's suit to enforce the dissolution of that gigantic combine deny that competition has been suppressed. We gather, also, that the lawyers are painfully shocked to discover any evidence of public suspicion that the steel corporation is anything less than a benevolent institution irrevocably committed to the commonweal, with profits and dividends merely incidental. What queer delusions we get, sometimes.

The fact that Mayor Mitchel, of New York, found a suitable man for a $5,000 city appointment by advertising in the newspapers, and gave it to him in preference to a selection from a long string of political hangers-on, is calculated to create an immense boom in the reading of the potent want-ad. columns.

INDIANA'S INSANE.

(Indianapolis News.)

There is no doubt that Indiana's system for treating the insane requires revision. The changes suggested at the conference on charities and correction impress one as being sound. The care of the insane constitutes almost half of the state's charity activities, and the expense is proportionate, running as high as $1,250,000 a year. The institutions represent a permanent investment of $6,000,000, and yet facilities are inadequate. The number of insane now being cared for in the regular hospitals is given as 5,600. In addition to these there are hundreds of others tem-

WHY INDIANA Needs a New CONSTITUTION

Some of the Big Facts of this Question

FAST NO. 5.

Looming up large among the problems facing the people of Indiana today is that of fundamental reform of its taxation system. Tax experts everywhere agree that Indiana is one of the most backward states of the union as regards taxation methods. No competent authority who has given study to our system has found anything in it that commends it for equity or for efficiency in results.

The Indiana system based on the worsted theory of the general property tax. This could be made to work with a fair measure of justice and efficiency in the early years of the state, when property was practically all in tangible form, where it came under the eye of the assessor. With the enormous increase in intangible wealth in later years—stocks, bonds, mortgages and other evidences of wealth—it has proven wholly unworkable in practice, doing great injustice to certain classes of tax payers and making evasion and perjury common and inevitable. In consequence, small home owners and the farmers carry an unfair share of the tax burden.

Changes in our taxation system are impossible under the limitations of our iron-clad constitution. Adequate reform can come only through a new constitution. This situation offers one of the most appealing arguments for a constitutional convention.

The Indiana Real Estate association, at its convention in Indianapolis, October 20th, went on record regarding the present tax situation and in favor of a new constitution in the following language:

"Whereas, it is an undisputed fact, admitted by everyone who has investigated the subject, that the real estate of Indiana, under our present laws, bears an unjust proportion of the taxes, and whereas it is apparent that equitable tax laws cannot be enacted under our state constitution in its present form; and whereas the question as to whether or not a constitutional convention shall be called will be presented to the voters at the general election to be held in November. Therefore, be it resolved that the Indiana Real Estate association favors the calling of such a convention to adopt a new constitution for the state."

porarily lodged, and often miserably lodged—in the county jails.

When we contemplate the serious responsibilities that are borne by the state and begin to compute the expense which these duties involve, the need for progress becomes the more apparent. These unfortunate individuals whose minds become unbalanced or unbalanced ought not in every case to become a dead burden on the community. Dr. Emerson showed that hospital space required for desperate cases is often taken up by those who could well be cared for in another manner. The idea that costly equipment and buildings must be provided for all insane is false. There should be a correctional and economical system put into effect, whereby the sufferers could be employed. But more than all, the return to conditions as near normal as possible would in itself constitute the best treatment that could be given.

Perhaps the most interesting statement which Dr. Emerson made was that insanity is being recognized as a community problem or environment disease rather than one of heredity. If this is true, then the placing of insane in normal environment, rather than in correctional institutions, is the system to be favored. Of course, the insane hospitals are required. But, as Dr. Smith, superintendent of the asylum at Richmond, made clear, the state should endeavor to maintain so-called insane colonies. Free from the labels of a mad house, conducted as leniently as possible, these colonies ought to be "hives of industry," and life in them for the majority of Indiana's insane certainly would be preferable to life in the wards of extensive properties conducted partly as hospitals, and partly as places of restraint.

A PSYCHOLOGICAL RELIEF.

(Washington Star.)

Assertions have often been made that the American system of government contemplates too many elections. The constant agitation of campaigning is feared and a spirit of unrest is declared to threaten the country's prosperity as well as its peace of mind. The citizens of this republic, however, have learned not to take their candidates so seriously as to make defeat a tragedy. There are always other elections at which previous awards and decisions may be reconsidered. No reverse is hopeless and no triumph absolutely secure. The contest of parties is endless, with new entries always welcome even if they do no more than add a touch of picturesque to passing events. The interest is a wholesome one, and at a time when strife abroad arouses sympathy and resentment as poignant as they are unavailing, our own competition for honors or emolument carried on with the familiar ardor even with the familiar asperities—claims attention not only as a matter of duty, but as a psychological relief.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—Castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt—Adv.

OLD FORT DAY IS OBSERVED

on the most thrilling times in the history of the city.

The normal students gave a series of most graceful dances between the scenes and the pupils reflected the most careful training that had been given them in their preparation for the play.

The park with its lagoons and bridges supplied a natural amphitheater that added greatly to the production.

Built Fort and Wigwags.

At Franklin school the boys of the higher grades constructed a fort of some old timbers and the other pupils built wigwags and with their Indian costumes they celebrated the day in a most fitting manner.

Miss Eliza Rudisill gave a most pleasing address on the history of Fort Wayne. There were a number of readings and games in keeping with the day and there was a short address by Mrs. Charles H. Spalding, president of the Fort Wayne Mothers' club.

At the Adams school the teachers read to the children different selections from the early history of the city and the pupils recited poetry in addition to singing a number of patriotic songs.

Bloomington Had Treat.

The pupils of the Bloomington school had the privilege of examining the collection of historical relics belonging to J. M. Stouder. Original stanzas were recited by the scholars and several national songs were sung. Following this was an address by Mrs. Stouder.

Owing to the lack of an assembly room the Clay school pupils held their exercises at the First M. E. church, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. B. J. Griswold spoke on the early history of Fort Wayne.

Exercises were held at the Jefferson school at 10 o'clock. The pupils of the upper grades gathered in the assembly room and after singing a few songs were addressed by Mrs. C. A. Dunkelberg.

Perry A. Randall addressed all pupils above the fifth grade of the Minor school on the early history of Fort Wayne Thursday morning. The lower grades had programs of their own. The third grade had a very interesting method of portraying the history of the fort.

A miniature Fort Wayne was built on the sand table. Toy soldiers were used to represent the garrison of the fort and glass was used for the three rivers, the junction of the St. Mary's and the St. Joe being shown on the table. In this manner the history of the fort was explained to the children.

The pupils of the upper grades of the Washington school assembled in the auditorium at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and Perry A. Randall spoke to them of the early days of the community. The address was followed by a number of patriotic songs.

The celebration at the Hanna school will not take place until Friday afternoon, the postponement of the exercises being made in order to secure B. J. Griswold for an address. Mr. Griswold's time was taken up Thursday at other schools.

The McCulloch, Rudisill, Nebraska, Hingland, South Wayne, Hamilton and James H. Smart schools had no special speakers but each had its individual exercises such as stories of the history of the fort and singing of national songs.

Hanna School's Original Song.

At the Hanna school the pupils sang a song, "Fort Wayne," written by Miss Hubecker, principal of the school, in honor of the occasion. The air was "Marching Through Georgia," and the words follow:

Bring the good old bugle, boys, we'll sing a little song,
Not about the march that Sherman led through Georgia,
But about a city fair, for which our love is strong,
Fort Wayne, the city of our home, boys.

Fort Wayne! Fort Wayne! The city of our home,
Fort Wayne! Fort Wayne! Wherever we may roam,
We'll spread abroad throughout the land the fame of dear Fort Wayne,
Fort Wayne, the best in Indiana.

One hundred twenty years ago, October twenty-two,
Fort Wayne had its origin, you've heard the story through,
Anthony Wayne had built a fort to shelter brave men true,
And from this fort our city grew, boys.

And so today we celebrate the founding of Fort Wayne,
And hope that in the future we may add unto its fame,
By being worthy citizens and trying not in vain
To keep it the best in Indiana.

To keep it the best in Indiana.

CARMAN DEFENSE OPENS ITS CASE

Accused Woman Will Take Stand in Her Own Behalf.

Minneapolis, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, on trial as the slayer of Mrs. Louise Bailey, entered the tiny court room in the Nassau county court house here on this, the fourth day of her trial, expecting to take the stand this afternoon as her own chief witness.

Presentation of the state's case it was thought, would be concluded this forenoon. Frank Farrell, who testified that he had seen a woman running from the window through which the shot was fired around the Carman house to the rear was called to the stand for a continuation of his cross examination when court convened this morning. As on preceding days the court room was crowded with women.

Elizabeth Carman, the 12-year-old daughter of the defendant, was permitted to sit with her mother at the counsel table.

John J. Graham, Mrs. Carman's lawyer, examined Farrell closely about his movements on the day of the murder. The story related by the witness was practically the same as that given by direct examination.

After an hour and a quarter's cross examination, Farrell was excused and the state announced that it rested its case. George M. Levy, of Mrs. Carman's counsel, then began his opening address.

Mr. Levy's Statement.

"We will prove," said Mr. Levy, "that this crime was not committed by Mrs. Carman, but by a man whose motive we do not know."

Mr. Levy told of Mrs. Carman's actions on the day and night of the murder. He said she went to New York during the day and contracted a headache and after dinner went to bed.

"Mrs. Carman will tell you she then heard a shot and some commotion down stairs," he said. "This was the first definite declaration from the defense that she was to testify."

"She immediately put on a kimono and leaned over the banister. She did not go into the office because Dr. Carman had forbidden her to do so."

"She will admit all about the telephone instrument and will tell you that she had it installed to find out if the things she had heard about the doctor's relations with women were true. We will show you that there can be no suspicion attached to Mrs. Carman's talks with me because I was a friend of the family and had been for years."

"As to the witness Farrell, we will prove him a liar."

Attack Maid's Testimony.

A vigorous assault upon the testimony given yesterday by Celia Coleman, the Carman maid, was begun by the defense with its first witness, Benedict Cheesman, a negro stenographer of New York. Cheesman testified that he and two negro lawyers called on Celia in New York on July 4 last and that the lawyers questioned Celia about her knowledge of the crime while he took down the questions and answers in shorthand. He identified a typewritten statement as the one she had made. In it Celia said she wanted to tell the whole truth. She was not under oath, however, and she made no mention of Mrs. Carman's having shown her a revolver. The court stenographer read in a monotone the long statement taken down by Cheesman and alleged to have been made by Celia. As he did so the jurors leaned back in their chairs and several closed their eyes. Recess for luncheon was taken at 11:30 o'clock with Cheesman still on the stand.

Farrell Tells His Version.

Frank Farrell, an unemployed stationary engineer, excitable and prodigal with slang typical of the lower east side in New York, was a witness for the state yesterday.

Farrell said he was on his way to the rear of the Carman house to beg for food when he heard a crash of glass and a shot. Looking up he saw a woman dressed in a dark garment that extended from her shoulders to the ground, standing by the window in Dr. Carman's office with one hand holding a wire screen above her head, and the other hand thrust into the window.

Farrell said he was frightened and ran away. He looked back once and saw a flash of white as if "the woman had raised her petticoat in order to move faster." On Farrell's cross examination, which was continued today, he contradicted himself in a few minor details. On the whole, however, his story remained unshaken.

Mrs. Carman seemed to be amused by Farrell, and the old, picturesque way he had of saying things and answering questions. But her attitude was different when Celia Coleman was testifying. The defendant leaned far back in her chair and stared constantly at the witness.

the positions occupied by the allies have been maintained.

"On the rest of the front the enemy has delivered only partial attacks. These all have been repulsed, particularly at Fricourt, to the east of Albert; on the plateau to the west of Craonne, in the region of Souain, in the Argonne district, at Four de Paris, southwest of Varennes, in the region of Malancourt in the Woivre district, in the direction of Champlon and at a point southeast of St. Mihiel, in the forest of Ailly."

"We have made slight progress in the Argonne district and in the southern part of the Woivre in the forest of Mortmeyer."

"Russia: The forward movement of the Russian forces has been positively announced. An important success in the region of Warsaw has driven back the enemy more than 13 kilometers (8 miles). The advances of the Russians at Ivangorod and to the south of Przemyśl are equally perceptible."

SOCIETY

STEPS FROM THE NEW DANCES — THE "RIVERSIDE ONE-STEP."

Jeane Allen - Lawrence Durant

"Do you tango?" is a query which will be almost taboo this winter. If you appear on a dance floor it is presumed that you do tango.

But just for those who DON'T, there is the Riverside one-step.

It is graceful, simple, novel. It combines the three easy elementary positions, the open, the waltz and the side.

The first movement is forward and backward, in the open position. The second is the waltz position, the dancers waltzing side-wise to the left. Then they slip into the side position, dancing forward and back at right angles to the former position, and terminating with a glide and pivot. Then turn and repeat.

part of the pretty effect in the dining-room decoration and other rooms were gay with autumn foliage and holly leaves. About fifty guests were present, all near friends or relatives. The bride is a young woman of fine character, who is devoted to home and church work, being a faithful member of St. John's Reformed church. Mr. Smock is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smock, of 918 West Third street. He is a painter and decorator by trade and is very highly regarded by friends and business associates. Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. William Smock, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zink, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fiedler and children, Alma and Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smock, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kothman, of Garrett, and children, Joseph and Russell, sister of the groom and her family, Miss Ruth Smock, Miss Cecile Smock, of Terre Haute, a cousin, Rev. W. Zink and daughters, Bertha and Josephine, Mr. and Mrs. Will Zink, Mr. and Mrs. First Smock, Mr. and Mrs. H. Smock, Mr. and Mrs. Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shuster, Mr. and Mrs. Geller, Mr. Arthur Altmeppen, Miss Christine Zoltinger, Miss Sue Kautner. The bride and groom have gone directly to home-keeping and will soon be at home to their friends at 1813 Sherman street.

Wissing-Hartwell.

A quiet wedding took place at the Cathedral on Tuesday morning when Rev. John Quinlan united in marriage Miss Ina Hartwell, of this city, and Mr. Clement B. Wissing, of Vincennes. A cousin of the groom, Miss Lorraine Kline, of Vincennes, and Mr. T. D. Lane, of this city, were bridesmaids and groomsmen. The bride wore a handsome suit of chiffon broadcloth with a stylish hat to correspond. A slower bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses were an additional feature to the fine appearance and costume of the bride. The wedding breakfast was served at the English tearoom after the church service. One of the guests was the groom's mother, Mrs. Mary Wissing, of Vincennes. Miss Vivian Ebner, a cousin of the groom, and Mrs. Hugh Emerson, an aunt of the bride, were also guests from away. The Fort Wayne guests were the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella Hartwell, Mr. Oliver Hartwell, Mrs. John Fries and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Walsh. The bride and groom went to Chicago on their wedding trip and will make their home in Vincennes. Mr. Wissing is a mechanical engineer and is highly respected. The bride taught school for several years in Vincennes and has many devoted and admiring friends there.

Felts-Tassier.

A pretty, but quiet wedding took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride when Miss Anna M. Tassier and Mr. Robert Felts were married by Prof. Louis W. Dorn, who officiated in the absence of Rev. Lange, who is out of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Girdler, of Covington, Ky., were the only attendants and immediate relatives only were present at the ceremony. A little later in the afternoon a number of intimate friends called and assisted in serving an elegant wedding supper. The bride wore a becoming dress of white crepe de chine and bride roses. The bride has been for a number of years a trusted and popular employee of the Boss Glove factory. Mr. Felts is an enterprising and very worthy young man. The bride and groom will be at home at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Park street.

Miss Ella P. Ryan and Mr. Joseph Coffey were united in marriage on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the First M. E. church by Rev. D. H. Gould, who is the bride's pastor. The bride wore a becoming and pretty gown of white voile trimmed with shadow lace and a blue satin girdle. The bride held a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Coffey are at home to their many friends at 2431 Beach street.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

German Hussars will invade our city Wednesday, October 28. The Cincinnati German Theater company, a new organization, is touring the country at the present time with a new military comedy named "Hussarenscheit" (The Dancing Hussars) with a tremendous success. It is said that the play took exceedingly well with the German audiences in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburg and other towns.

The production at the Majestic theater promises to be a real treat for our local German element. "Hussarenscheit" is written in a humorous vein and shows the affection of the fair sex for the Kaiser's gallant cavalry in a delightful plot. Genuine uniforms of the Hussars are used in the production, which is an elaborate one in every respect. "The Cincinnati German Theater Company" is a new enterprise that has engaged the best talent obtainable in the Fatherland and the critics of towns where the company appeared speak very highly of the presentations of the novelties of it. It is anticipated that the Germans of this city will turn out in such numbers as to crowd the theater to its capacity.

AT THE TEMPLE.

The Temple this afternoon is presenting another delightful bill of elaborate vaudeville for the enjoyment of the thousands of patrons of this home of mirth. This program will run until Saturday night. The feature act on the week-end bill is the pleasing little comedy sketch, "The Soldier and the Maid," the clever little vehicle employed by Mardo and Hunter. Robert Hall, who has established himself with an international reputation through his wonderful gift of fashioning bits of verse and setting them to music, "just as he goes along." Hall composes songs about anything he happens to see or think of, unwinning reel after reel of laugh producing comedy stuff. Davies and Romanelli are on the books for their big acrobatic act. The Romanelli end of this team is one of the famous family by that name, who have been doing acrobatic stunts on vaudeville circuits and in circuses for three generations. Hugh McCormick and Grace Wallace's witty novelty, "The Theatrical Agent," introduce some new wrinkles in ventriloquism, while Marshall and Comby have something decidedly new in the black face comedian line to offer.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Opening this afternoon at the Empress theater for the last half of the week is a bill that filled the Empress theater at Grand Rapids to capacity at every performance during the four part of the week. Manager McCoy, of the Grand Rapids Empress, has wired the local Empress management that "this show is unquestionably the best you have ever played in your house."

The feature act on this bill is Harry Gerard and company in an elaborate scenic musical drama, "The Luck of A Totem." Mr. Gerard will be remembered by Fort Wayne theatergoers as the leading man in "The Alaskan," which was such a great success here. In his present offering he has a miniature musical comedy with a great cast, a real plot and a plentiful of new and catchy songs.

On this new bill at the Empress is an act that will greatly tickle the young people of the city. This is Swain's cats and rats, who do wonderful feats and are wonderfully well trained. Sampson and Douglas, in their original nonsensical novelty, took at least five bows at each performance at Grand Rapids. Sherman, Van and Ryman were a veritable riot at Grand Rapids, while the Ward Sisters went simply great in the Michigan city. The latter team presents a real novelty in the doll girl of vaudeville, who defies the law of gravity and is a puzzle to scientists. No man has yet been able to lift her, but every man in Fort Wayne will get a chance to try the last half of the week and it is possible that some one of them will be able to do so.

THE ORPHEUM.

"OLAF ERICKSON—BOSS."

A Powerful Drama of the North Woods at Orpheum.

A two-reel Rex drama, a powerful play of the north woods, in which the brains of a pretty girl subdue the big rough strength of the camp bully and boss, will be shown at the Orpheum theater this afternoon and evening. Enacting the leading roles are Bob Leonard and Ella Hall, who have starred in so many successful plays of the woods. The play is directed by Mr. Leonard.

Ford Sterling, the great laugh maker, is featured in a Sterling comedy, entitled "Secret Service Snitz," which will be an added attraction today. In this play Snitz is in the secret service in the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee on the trail of moonshiners. He discovers some of these men and at the same time starts a lot of trouble for himself. A fitting program has been arranged by the orchestra and Miss Lyons will appear in a pleasing song.

Tomorrow's Program.

A two-reel Victor drama, entitled "The Bride of Marble House," featuring Rosemary Theby and Harry Myers, and a Novator comedy, "Cupid Pulls a Tooth," with Eddie Lyons and Victoria Forde in the leading roles, will be shown tomorrow.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE GREYHOUND."

Thrilling "Crook" Play Scores Heavily With Jefferson Audiences.

One of the most pronounced hits ever scored by a motion picture photo-play was registered yesterday at the Jefferson by "The Greyhound," the Armstrong-Alizer "crook" play, which had such a successful run on the legitimate stage some time back. There is never a moment when the multitudinous complexities of the plot failed to incite action of the keenest variety. The story itself reveals a complication of circumstances, seemingly hopelessly entangled, but gradually becoming untangled with a smoothness and cleverness that indicates play-writing ingenuity of a high order. The action of the story has its locale at the beginning of the story in two different places and involving two sets of characters, the wealthy Allens, at Palm Beach, and the gang of "The Greyhound," in New York. Ensuing circumstances bring these people together in a strange manner on board an Atlantic liner. The major portion of the action takes place aboard this ship and the highly dramatic passages and denouements which follow absorb the attention and hold the onlooker tense with the power of their gripping appeal.

One of the most brilliant casts of the season give this thrilling story a fine portrayal. Elita Proctor Otis, Anna Laughlin, William H. Tooker, Lillian Langdon and David Wall are a few of the names which will be remembered by followers of the legitimate stage, and which appear in the leading roles of this gripping story.

AT THE LYRIC.

With three great acts of vaudeville and three feature reels of pictures and all for the admission fee charged by the ordinary picture houses the Lyric theater for the week-end is setting an even more glittering target for other amusement endeavors to shoot at. Royer and French, whose comic offering has proved one of the sensational hits of the season; Bill Baker, as "The Country Gawky," whose absurd and ludicrous sayings and songs simply bubble over with fun and Elverson with his graceful gun baton and torch juggling and swinging comprise the vaudeville end of the current entertainment. The crowded houses that have been greeting these programs is all that has made it possible for the Lyric to give this character of show at the ridiculously low prices. Another chapter of our Mutual

The Children's Ward association of Hope hospital is to be the beneficiary of the bridge party to be given in the Anthony hotel ball room on the evening of Friday, October 30. This benefit affair is being held in the evening to allow the men who are interested in the cause and who also enjoy a game of bridge to participate. Weekly girl will be run off tonight. Nothing more need be said about this portion of the show, as Our Mutual Girl is too firmly established in Fort Wayne to need further introduction. "High Spots on Broadway" is the suggestive title of a comedy picture with Fatty in the leading role. "In Danger's Hour," a tense dramatic offering, is the Thanahouser picture for today. Two children pick up a stray dog and feed and care for him. He is driven away by the father of the children, but later saves one of them from drowning.

RELIGION GETS IN DIVORCE SUIT

Hubert McComb Says
and Has Delusions.

Hubert J. McComb has brought suit in the superior court for divorce from Addie McComb and his complaint is one of the most sensational filed in that court in many years. He says that she has become absorbed in Christian Science and is so thoroughly interested in the study of it that she has for a long time neglected her household duties and devoted most of her time to constantly reading Christian Science books, habitually failing, refusing and neglecting to prepare his meals and during this time has refused and neglected to prepare his meals. Almost constantly, he continues, she has failed to keep her home clean and in habitable condition. The most sensational charge in the complaint is that she has, by reason of her ardent belief in Christian Science, wrongfully accused him of going with other women, basing her distrust on the fact that because she from time to time suffered some pain her husband had violated some of his marital obligations. He charges that she constantly nagged him, accusing him of imaginary wrongs, errors and transgressions and insisting upon his listening to her read from Christian Science books, which she claimed proved his wrongs, errors and transgressions. On one occasion, says the complaint, she tried to break up another family by going to the husband and accusing the plaintiff, McComb, of having been over friendly with the wife of the man, giving as her reasons merely the study of Christian Science and not any facts upon which to base her unwarranted and unjustified suspicions. The wife is charged, by reason of her enthusiasm for Christian Science, with having neglected her children, failing to keep them properly clothed and clean, in the neighborhood and failing to prepare food for them at regular times, while she devoted her time to the study of Christian Science. He says that for a week at a time she would refuse to speak to him or have anything to do with him around home. He alleges that she is unfit to have the care and custody of their three children, aged 1, 3 and 6 years, respectively. The superior court has issued an order restraining her from bothering him at his grocery store on Huffman street and from interfering with the care of the children.

Took His Lady Friend to His Home. In her divorce complaint against Edward W. Jones, filed in the superior court by Emma Jones, the plaintiff charges that her husband often forgot his marital vows, namely Viola Stoddill, one of his lady friends and says that on the 1st of last May Jones brought the Stoddill woman to their home, at 445 Larned avenue, and installed her there on the pretext that she was a boarder. Mrs. Jones says that on the 24th of July she found her husband and the Stoddill woman in a compromising situation and then realized that he brought her to the house not as a roomer, but as his "paramour and concubine." Mrs. Jones says that she was obliged to keep boarders and roomers to get along. She alleges inadequate support for two years. They were married in 1892, separated on the 25th of last July and have six children ranging in age from 11 to 21 years. She asks custody of the minor children and $4,000 alimony. The International Harvester company is restrained in an order of court from paying Jones his salary during pendency of the suit.

Notes of the Courts. In the circuit court Alfred W. Gerlach has sued Paul V. Crosby and others for $150 for money paid. In the superior court Mollie Stillbaum sues Frederick Stillbaum for divorce, charging cruel treatment, associating with other women and desertion. They were married in September, 1912. She asks the custody of a son one year old. Harry Evans was found guilty by a jury in the circuit court of entering a house to commit a felony and was sentenced to two to fourteen years in the penitentiary, permitting them to run at random. Judge Eggeman in the circuit court has granted the defendant an appeal to the supreme court in the case of Frank J. Shields vs. the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad for damages. A jury in June gave Shields a $10,000 verdict. Last week Judge Eggeman overruled the defendant's motion for a new trial.

The divorce suit of Barbara v. Barbara is on trial before Judge Yaple in the superior court. The principals are well known members of the Syrian colony in Fort Wayne. A motion for change of venue from Judge Eggeman was filed in the circuit court Wednesday afternoon by Charles F. Diggs and Harry C. Brinkon, against each of whom there are three affidavits for forgery.

Herman Bueter announces that in order to give people to whom it will be a convenience an opportunity to pay their taxes in the evening he has arranged to have his office open Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings this week and Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings next week. BANDIT SLAIN IN WAR WITH POSSE

Officers in a Pitched Battle.

Blaine, Wash., Oct. 22.—Two men were killed and one wounded today in a battle between a posse composed of Canadian and American deputy sheriffs, customs officers and immigration inspectors and five outlaws supposed to have robbed the First National bank of Sedro-Woolley, Wash., of $20,000 last Saturday when they killed a boy while firing at citizens on the street. The dead: CLIFF ADAMS, Canadian customs inspector. Unidentified bandit.

Wounded: James Smith, Canadian customs inspector, hand shattered. The slain bandit was apparently a foreigner. He carried in a belt, $2,500 in gold coin. The other four robbers are surrounded in the woods at Hazelmore, B. C., close to the border. The posse kept a sharp lookout last night, having learned that the robbers after an encounter with officers at Ferndale yesterday were moving south toward the Canadian boundary.

Early today the United States customs inspector, Wm. Schaffner, on guard on the old Great Northern right-of-way, saw five men approaching. Instead of halting them he withdrew to the nearest telephone and called up other members of the posse, with the result that when the robbers a half hour later had reached a point further north they were confronted by a formidable body of peace officers commanded by Inspector Burke of the United States immigration service. Burke called on the men to halt. Their leader drew a revolver but before he could fire Burke shot him dead. In a moment firing became general. Adams fell dead and the robbers fled with the posse in pursuit.

It is the part of wisdom never to try experiments in stoves when you can buy one of long established reputation. Hundreds of thousands of Jewel Base Burners are in use today and giving entire satisfaction. Foster's are the Fort Wayne agents.

The regular meeting of the S. W. Stick circle, ladies of the G. A. R., will be held Friday evening. Business of importance will be transacted.

STORM SEWERS THE SOLUTION

Would Relieve.

Mayor W. J. Hosey believes a fundamental mistake has been made in the drainage of the Lakeside and Forest park regions of the city by not providing for storm sewers to take care of the water from the higher ground. The heights now shed a large part of their surface water through the general drainage system, which aggravates the problem of protecting the lower ground. The mayor's idea is that storm sewers that should have no openings from their outlets to their mouths in the river, ought to have been constructed. With their heads high above the lower part of the region these sewers could be constructed through superficial trenches to the dikes and force their water by gravity into the Muncie and St. Louis rivers at a level above any possibility of interference with flood tides in the streams. Such drains would dispose of an immense volume of surface water that now goes through the sewers and that will have to be taken care of by the sewer pumps that are now under construction. Mayor Hosey said that if the pumps now being installed should at any time prove inadequate the correct solution would be to construct supplementary sewers to take care of the water that is shed from the higher ground and that should have no connection at all with the sewers lower down.

NATIVE CHIEF EXECUTED.

Said to Have Launched Rebellion Against Germans. London, Oct. 22.—(2:15 p. m.)—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from The Hague says that Magnus Bell, the native chief of the German Kamerun, has been executed because he attempted to foment among the natives a rebellion against Germans. The announcement of this is credited by the correspondent to Herr Eltermayer, German governor of Kamerun.

Kamerun is a German colony of west-east Equatorial Africa with an area estimated at 191,000 square miles. It has a population estimated at 3,500,000, of whom less than 1,000 are whites. The administration of the colony is by an imperial governor whose seat is at Buea.

THE SCHEDULE.

October 25—South Bend.
November 1—Wabash A. A.
November 8—Evansville North
Ends.
November 15—First regiment A.
C. Chicago.
Thanksgiving—Corby Hall.

Members of the Friar athletic board call attention with a degree of warranted pride to the football schedule for the remainder of the season, and if they have not been badly fooled, and they don't think there is a chance that they have, there will be a line of gridding at League park between now and time to close for the winter that will keep the patrons on edge.

First comes South Bend. South Bend is a village located on the banks of the St. Joseph river. It is connected with both by steam and electric roads, which makes it not so bad to live there.

Its principal products are Oliver plows, Studenker wagons, Dr. Frank R. Carson, Eddie Wheeler, Eddie Smith and Aggie Grant. It is the principal shopping place for Notre Dame students. Also it has an independent football team that is coming here next Sunday with the sole object of humbling the proud Friars and getting revenge for all of the nastiness that have been printed about the village.

This team is composed of good football players and they had a game last Sunday with a team from a town by the name of Wabash. This Wabash team is some team among the independents and these South Bend fellows battled them to a 6 to 0 tie.

Francis Xavier Linehart, press agent for the Friar club, says that this schedule represents the flower of the football game of independents and that he and his partners in the undertaking hope in some manner to repay their patrons for the patience displayed in the games played so far this season.

Remember the Congerville team? Well, the Evansville aggregation played this bunch and landed on it for a score of 51 to 0. The other clubs are equally as good.

Getting right down to brass tacks the schedule surely looks mighty good and promises some real football. The Friars have been badly deceived now and then but they believe they are ready to show real goods from now on.

Members of the team are scheduled to practice at League park at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

Dr. Paul A. Mollan, United States veterinarian co-operating with Purdue university, yesterday found hog cholera when he held a post-mortem at the farm of Paul Zink, residing five miles east of New Haven. The examination was witnessed by fifty farmers in the neighborhood.

Dr. Mollan was assisted by County Agent Henry. When the men arrived at the farm they found several sick hogs penned for the "post." One of the hogs was killed and dissected. The lungs, kidneys, bladder and intestines were found spotted as in the case of cholera. The official spent some time in demonstrating the effects of cholera on the hog and told how the disease may be found in a pen of hogs. Following the examination Dr. Mollan had each farmer present disinfect his shoes with a wash prepared. This was done to prevent carrying disease germs to farms where there is no cholera.

Arrangements are now being made to have Dr. Mollan here within the next two weeks to give a number of illustrated lectures throughout the county on disease prevention. The dates for these have not yet been set.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, October 18, 1914.

Base Ball Will Never Die on Account of a Lack of Words.

If baseball ever perishes from off the face of these United States it will not be for lack of words.

Baseball is the wordiest game of all human activities, besides tests, kaffee, kintoches, prize fighting and running for office not excepted. Baseball takes to words, to any word, more naturally than a duck to water, takes to them and keeps them for its very own.

The latest in his laboratory, needing a new word, painfully digs out a few Greek roots or Latin derivatives and fashions them into an awkward, harsh, sounding life that must represent that one thing as long as the race shall run.

Science, once having picked on a word, is faithful until death, no matter how rotten the word and some of those scientific words are the essence of rottenness, euphemistically.

But baseball, Ah, fickle, effervescent, beautiful! When it needs a new word, or believes it does, no time for dead language then. Bing, right onto the first word it sees hops baseball.

No matter what word it is, no matter what the word may have been doing, something big and dignified, something small and frivolous, baseball marches it back to work at something entirely different.

Baseball takes an old language with an old meaning and makes a new of it, and without killing the old language—outside of baseball. Which is more difficult than making an entirely new language out of a dead language that is no longer a common language.

There has been much comment on the linguistic feat of baseball. There is room for much comment.

Listen to this, shaken out of a baseball story in an Omaha paper:

"Whanged a two-bagger up against the gaudy, middle field scenery as an opener for the twelfth round and won a fair-curling match—the ninth stanza—the masses—base—the—distorted—athwart the pan—the pill—qualified maneuvers—then debated and held the Seil joints, snatched with a stolen sack and sacrifice—a social jolt to middle field—strutted miff of T's pop-up—dropped second base, not to say brohmdie, to the fair. But to one not in tandem it might take all of an idle hour to figure just how they could fit in a description of our national game 'as she is writ'.

Many of the foregoing phrases will sound queer, not to say brohmdie, to the fair. But to one not in tandem it might take all of an idle hour to figure just how they could fit in a description of our national game 'as she is writ'.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is a harmless, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble. Adv.

BANKERS SEE UPWARD TREND

Convention Hears Hopeful News Regarding Trade and Industry.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 22.—A keynote of optimism regarding the business and financial outlook of the United States has been sounded throughout the sessions of the convention of the American Bankers' association, held here a few days ago.

It is the belief of many bankers that America is at the open door of a sweeping era of commercial prosperity, while even the more conservative bankers express their faith in present signs of renewed commercial activity.

Owen T. Reeves, president of the Drovers' National bank, Chicago, says that there has been more commercial paper sold in Chicago in the last week than at any time since the first of August. Business conditions are rapidly improving in Chicago, he says. Mr. Reeves expressed great hopes for the immediate future.

"I am optimistic as to the immediate future of business and industrial conditions," he said. "I believe we are now on the up-grade. There are indications that clearing house certificates as well as emergency currency is about to be retired and that means less strain and better conditions."

There has been more commercial paper sold in Chicago in the last week than any time since the first of August. Three or four of our Chicago banks settled their balances in cash. While we in the stock and bond districts will be the last to feel the benefit of improved conditions, I am very hopeful and confident for the future."

Booms in Washington.
The last three months of business in the state of Washington exceeds that of the corresponding months of last year, according to W. D. Vincent, vice president of the Old National bank, Spokane.

"Business conditions in our section are excellent," said Mr. Vincent. "Business in Spokane for July, August and September of this year is 15 per cent. greater than for the same three months last year. The actual volume of bank transactions shows that figure. We have had a great wheat crop throughout the northwest and good prices, while the grain export has not increased, yet wheat which would have gone out of the country is being milled here and our millers are making the profit. I believe on the whole we have a right to feel confident for the future."

Depression Has Reached Bottom.
That depression in American business as a result of the European war has at last "reached bottom," and that the worst is over, is the belief of Edward J. Bowman, president of the Daily Bank and Trust company, Annapolis, Md.

"Business and industrial conditions in our part of the country could be much worse," commented Mr. Bowman. "We prefer to look at the good features and not the bad. Our state has had exceptionally good crops and we are becoming a great grain country. I believe the business depression due to the war has reached bottom and we are hopeful for the future."

Things on Boom in West.
G. E. Bowman, president of the First National bank, St. Anthony, Idaho, says harvests in Idaho are bringing quick and normal returns and money is easy.

"Business conditions in Idaho are very good, indeed," said Mr. Bowman. "Our producers of mutton, beef, pork, sugar beets and grain are disposing of their products at good prices and we have felt practically no business depression. There has been plenty of labor to harvest the crops. Railroad building in our vicinity has helped general conditions also. While we can not speak for the rest of the country our attitude is one of satisfaction and confidence for the future."

Good prices and sound conditions prevail in the state of South Dakota. Optimistic statements have been made by W. C. McFadden, secretary of the North Dakota Bankers' association.

Said Mr. McFadden: "In a state where the things you have to sell are things to eat, meat, cattle, hogs, grain, we are particularly prosperous at this time. Our products are bringing good prices. Not a bank in our state looks out on any emergency currency, our crops began to move almost simultaneously with the outbreak of the war and brought in ready money to our farmers and business men."

That the flour mills in the St. Paul district are working to a capacity far beyond normal is the optimistic message brought to the bankers' convention by Newton F. Hawley, treasurer of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings bank of Minneapolis.

Said Mr. Hawley: "Practically all the banks in our section of the country, including Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and banks in the northwest generally show an increase of deposits which is quite marked and which is the highest in the history of the northwest. Our flour mills have been running far exceeding anything in their history."

Signs of Better Times.
Texarkana, Ark., Oct. 22.—Building operations in Texarkana this year and work now going on are in excess of last year. There are fifty-seven manufacturing concerns in this city. Seven of these plants, at least three of which do export business, have enlarged their plants from $10,000 upwards. At this writing we are beginning $100,000 worth of street paving, asphalt and wood block. The Texas side of the town completed the installation of a $7,000 incineration plant last month.

The Texarkana Fruit and Truck Growers' association is shipping sweet potatoes and pears in car lots this week as they did last week.

The publication committee of the Presbyterian church is having plans prepared for the erection of a modern three-story with basement mercantile building for their southwestern depot here.

The new W. C. Hardin theater being built at a cost of $40,000 and located in the downtown district is nearing completion.

The postoffice department at Washington has just created a railway mail chief clerkship here and this new office means the addition of fourteen new men in the service resident at this point.

Business is active here in spite of the price of cotton.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 22.—Says the local Commercial club: "Business conditions throughout Nebraska are excellent and we are a contented and happy people."

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 22.—"Warring nations must be fed and North America must be their granary," was the belief expressed here by Charles D. Jones, of Memphis, president of the National Grain Dealers' association. "The toll the American farmer will eventually reap in riches is scarcely to be estimated," said Mr. Jones.

Bloomington, Oct. 22.—Rush orders from the war zone for apparel are causing the zinc works of Central Illinois to work overtime. Thirty carloads of apparel have passed through here bound for New York in two days.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Representatives of the allies are negotiating here for thousands of army wagons, 1,000,000 blankets and 200,000 saddles and bridles.

Old Sea Captain Cured Himself by Simple Means Within Reach of All Sufferers.

His Remedy and Big, Interesting Book Sent Free to All Sufferers.

If Captain Collings could cure himself of a double rupture that kept him bedridden for years, by a simple means of his own invention, why cannot you achieve the same blessed result by doing as he did? You can't be much, if any, worse off than this old seafarer was, for no truss could hold his rupture. Doctors said he must be operated upon or die. But he cured himself absolutely and his big, free book tells how.

"Blas! my tophat! I can dance the hornpipe as well as if I'd never been ruptured!"

Why should you continue to go through life with the awful handicap of a rupture? Why be annoyed and embarrassed by awkward, uncomfortable and ineffective trusses that are only makeshifts at the best? Why be denied so many of the pleasures and joys of life because the slightest violent exertion may cause the truss to slip and the rupture to displace?

Do not put up with these things. Get Captain Collings' absorbingly interesting book and his free remedy that is so generously offered to those who suffer as he did for so long. CURES PIMPLES EASILY.

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past Meyer Bros. Co. have done a big business in selling Ilokara, the skin healer that has won so many friends in Fort Wayne.

It has been found to heal not only all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, sealy scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but also the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic syphilis and salt rheum. There has yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Ilokara does not help, and its action is so quick that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, Meyer Bros. Co. will sell a liberal-sized jar for 25c. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.—Adv.

'TIS NOT AT ALL LIKE OLDEN DAYS

Candidates for Senate Now Going Directly to the People.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Oct. 22.—This business of electing United States senators has been greatly altered by the constitutional amendment requiring direct vote of the people. Candidates for the senate now have to go to the people. They used to go to the legislature—and buy it. Now they buy a Ford auto and ask the voters to vote for them.

Returning to Washington after a trip including Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, I find that the candidates for the senate this fall in states where there are real fights, are ramming around from county to county, township to township and country store to country store, shaking the voter by his calloused hand and talking to groups on the street corners. In states like Kansas it is not unusual for the candidates to make ten towns a day, and perhaps more than ten speeches. Victor Murdock is making from six to a dozen, Henry Allen, running for governor, is making fully ten a day. The effort—and it will pretty nearly be successful—is to reach every town and crossroads in the state. Sometimes the auto serves as a stand to speak from, but in Kansas the prevailing mode is to get right down on the sidewalk and talk face to face with the crowd.

In Ohio, Harding and Garfield are making this kind of a campaign. Clifford Pinchot is making one like it in Pennsylvania. Raymond Robins is covering the state of Illinois in similar fashion and even Roger Sullivan is trying to shake hands with as many as possible of the rural population of the state.

The light, reliable automobile and the constitutional amendment have revolutionized the method of choosing senators. In the end they will revolutionize the senate.

The ship-purchase bill, providing for a government-owned merchant marine, reported favorably by the house committee on merchant marine, is now scheduled for serious consideration as the first business after congress reconvenes in December. At least it is President Wilson's desire that this bill be placed among the first measures on the program. In spite of strong opposition on the part of private shipping interests, the president is determined that this bill be adopted. He believes the present time most auspicious for starting a real American merchant marine. Such a fleet of government-owned ships not only would carry American commerce, but would serve as auxiliary naval vessels for transport or other war purposes in case of need. The president's bill is modeled on the existing plan by which the government runs the steamship lines between Panama and New York. The Panama railroad steamship line is now

General Manager W. B. Wood and Local Officials Visit Decatur.

General Manager W. B. Wood and some of the division officials of the Grand Rapids and Indiana spent the forenoon at Decatur, the guests of the management of the beet sugar plant. General Manager Wood came down from Grand Rapids on train No. 4 and at 7:30 o'clock this morning he and private car and an engine made the run to Decatur as a special train. Returning the special reached the city in time to attach Mr. Wood's car to No. 9, at 1 o'clock, and take it to Grand Rapids. Division officials who went with General Manager Wood to Decatur were Supt. R. H. Hudson, Trainmaster R. E. Casey, Division Engineer C. L. Barnaby and Commercial Agent E. O. Wagner. At certain portions of the year the Decatur beet sugar plant is the greatest freight producer on the Southern division of the G. R. & I. Hundreds of car loads of freight are handled in and out of the sugar company's grounds every week and to facilitate the movement, the G. R. & I. keeps a switch engine and crew constantly in service there.

SIX ENGINES IN FOUR DAYS.

Pennsylvania Erecting Shop Repair Output for Week.

This is the closing day of the week's operations at the Pennsylvania shops because of danger of exceeding the appropriation for shop expenses for the year if the work is operated the usual number of hours. The output during the thirty-two hours the men worked was nearly as great as was the output of some of the preceding weeks when the engines receiving general repairs during the four days were Nos. 1081, 9990, 5436, 7512, 9089 and 7118. The shops close at 4 o'clock this afternoon to resume work again Monday morning.

CHANGING YARD TRACKS.

Pennsylvania Has Big Gang of Foreigners at Work.

Fifty-eight laborers, all of foreign birth, and their three foremen engaged in making improvements in the Pennsylvania yards between Calhoun street and Hanna street, present a scene of activity seldom common these dull times. The company is eliminating a curve at the beginning of the elevation at Lafayette street and to accomplish it all of the several tracks at that point and some of those on the yards farther east have to be moved. To hasten the work all the men that could be advantageously engaged at it are on the job. When this improvement is made trains will have less difficulty in getting up the grade into the elevation.

WILL HAVE 12 CAR TRAIN.

From the information he is able to put in advance concerning the probable number of excursionists to Cleveland next Saturday, District Passenger Agent F. P. Parnin believes there will be a satisfactory crowd. He has ordered twelve cars for the special which leaves this city at 7 o'clock in the morning and other cars to be picked up at Fox.

BIGGEST CONSIGNMENT OF SHADE TREES EVER RECEIVED BY THE FORESTRY DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF FORT WAYNE.

They are Pennsylvania em-ploees. Passenger Engineer S. P. Craig, of the Pennsylvania, is one of the latest additions to ranks of autoists in the city. He drives a brand new and very pretty machine with the same care and watchfulness he gives to the throttle while pulling a fast train over the Pennsylvania lines.

A. W. Johnston, general manager, and C. B. Hoyt, superintendent of track maintenance and construction of the Nickel Plate, made a trip over the line from Chicago to Cleveland yesterday. Division Superintendent W. F. Watson accompanied the higher officials from this city to Bellevue.

IN THE CHURCHES OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR ARE CHOSEN

W. F. M. S. Accepts Report of the Nominating Committee.

At the closing session of the annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church of the Fort Wayne district Thursday afternoon officers for the coming year were elected. The nominating committee chairman, Mrs. J. H. Binford, read the report of the committee which was unanimously accepted.

Following are the officers of the coming year: President, Mrs. J. A. Beatty, Fort Wayne; Vice president, Mrs. Mary J. Quirk, second vice president, Mrs. J. A. Little, of Portland, third vice president, Mrs. E. O. Thomas, treasurer, Mrs. Nettie Backlund, of Fort Wayne; recording secretary, Mrs. W. H. Chandler, of Pennville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. A. Grist, of this city; superintendent of Young People's work, Mrs. H. S. Nickerson, of Angola, superintendent of children's work, Mrs. J. A. Little, of Portland, secretary of titling, Miss Bessie Stepher, secretary of literature.

The report of the secretary showed that during the past year three new societies had been organized in the district at Nevada, Mills, Prospect and Robinson Chapel.

It was voted that the pledge of the Fort Wayne district for foreign missions this year should be $2,700. The song "Victory in Jesus" written by Mrs. Nellie P. Chandler was adopted as the conference song. Mrs. Chandler is corresponding secretary for the district.

Officers are well pleased with the outcome of this thirty-seventh annual meeting, as it was one of the best attended meetings ever held by the district and the interest manifested was fine.

FINDS INTEREST RATE LESSENED

Bringing Out Other Side of Plea for Advance in Freight Rates.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Cross examination of John E. Oldham, who spoke for the Investment Bankers' association at the interstate commerce commission hearing today on the application of the eastern roads for higher freight rates, developed testimony that the rate of interest on fixed charges of the railroads had dropped during 1913 to 4.44 from an average of 4.80 for the ten years preceding, and that the average dividend rate for 1913 was 6.48, as against a ten year average of 5.43.

In examination of figures presented by Mr. Oldham, Louis D. Brandies, the commission's counsel, drew the conclusion that the amount of capital required by the roads to earn a dollar on a year's operation had decreased during 1913. Mr. Oldham insisted, however, that the falling interest charge did not indicate the roads had borrowed money at a lower rate. Under examination by Clifford Thorne, counsel for several shippers' organizations, it was developed that the decline in net income of the railroads had been fractional and that the roads had been maintained at a higher level during 1913 than during previous years.

HEALTH, WRINKLE-FREE SKIN EASY TO HAVE.

A dull, drab, muddy complexion or an over-red, blotchy, pimply or freckled skin can be a quite simple, harmless and inexpensive matter, be changed to one of glowing, rosy, clear and pure. One ounce of common vasoline, sold by druggists generally, will remove the most unsightly complexion in from one to two weeks. By its remarkable absorbent power, the withered, faded or discolored layer of thin film-skin which hides the healthier skin underneath, is gradually peeled off in tiny, almost invisible particles. This is done so gently there is no inconvenience and no time is lost on the skin except that of emollient beauty. The wax is smeared on the cold cream before retiring, and removed in the morning with warm water. If the skin be wrinkled or saggy, a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered salicylic acid in 16 pt. witch hazel will be found most effective. Combining with astringent and tonic properties, this tightens the skin and braces up its supporting muscles.

IN NO HURRY TO QUIT VERA CRUZ

Washington, Oct. 22.—American troops seem sure to remain in Vera Cruz until the friction between Gen. Carranza and the Agues Calientes convention is adjusted, in the opinion of officials here who base their conclusions on today's advice to the state department.

Carranza has referred back to the convention, the administrative questions incident to withdrawing the troops, although he had submitted the same question to the convention before it voted itself the supreme authority in Mexico and it had instructed him to comply with the proposals of the United States for protection of clericals, Mexicans who had served Gen. Funston, and others. Carranza has since questioned the sovereignty of the convention and it is believed here he recently being instructed by what he considers an advisory body.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Wheat—Indifferent market. Tended today to check the rising of wheat. What foreign demand could be traced seemed to be for the December crop instead of spot on which there has been a decided falling of the market. After opening unchanged to a slight advance, the market followed by a slight rally and then a sag on the close. The close was unsettled, 5¢ to 5¢ under last night.
Corn—Eased off as a result of a little increase in country offers. Buyers were scarce. The opening, which varied from 1¢ to 1¢ lower to a shade advance, was followed by a slight rally and then a sag on the close. The close was nervous at 1¢ to 1¢ under to 1¢ advance.
Hedging sales weakened oats. Demand proved to be for a scattered sort. Provisions rose with live stock. There was considerable influential buying of lard.
